Isabel Flattens Cornfields

Southeast Pa., Big Valley Hit Hardest

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Tropical Storm Isabel took her toll on cornfields, especially in the southeastern part of the state and in some other areas, including the Big Valley of Mifflin County, according to Penn State agronomists.

"It's kind of disheartening to drive around and look," said Bob Anderson, crop agent from Lancaster County. In his travels through the county, he's seen plenty of corn "with big ears, flat on the ground."

According to Anderson, about 25,000 acres of corn in Lancaster County is in a bad way from the hurricane winds and will be difficult to harvest. About 97,000 acres suffered less damage, with yield losses estimated at 15 percent, Anderson said.

Before the storm hit on Sept. 18, farmers had harvested about 53,000 acres of corn for silage, putting it away at "very variable" quality levels because of the wet conditions, Anderson said. Now

PennAg Industries Celebrates 125 Years At Banquet

ANDY ANDREWS

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Little did the audience know that, when PennAg Industries began 125 years ago, there were 5,000 flour mills in Pennsylvania.

Imagine that!

Little did they know that when the call for an organization that came to be known as PennAg was brought to the millers, the driving issue at the time was "discriminatory rail rates being given to western flour mills."

Imagine that!

But who could imagine that after 125 years, an association to represent the interests of all of agriculture in the state could be thriving and seeking not only to serve the feed industry, but poultry, swine, and other critical ag industries as well?

Association members and friends of PennAg gathered at the Nittany Lion Inn in University Park Monday evening to celebrate PennAg's 125th anniversary.

The association also honored several individuals for their work in Pennsylvania agri-industry.

Sam Sherk, who began as director of services with Pennsylvania Millers and Feed Dealers (PAMAFDA) in 1966, a precursor to PennAg, spoke about the history of the association.

Sherk, PennAg vice president of Feed, Grain, and Allied Indus-

KILE Announces 2003 Show Schedule

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Celebrating 47 years of outstanding livestock competitions and agriculture educational activities, the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) will fill the Farm Show Complex to capacity with beef cattle, sheep, swine, and horses. The showring competitions start on Tuesday, Sept. 30 and continue through Monday, Oct. 6.

In an unbelievable collection of contests, shows and demonstrations, riding horses leap over fences, work horses put themselves to the test, steers and heifers parade on the tanbark, sheep line up for evaluation, and swine classes battle for blue ribbons and bragging rights. KILE is an awesome event filled with fun and entertainment for everyone.

There will be lots to oooh and aah about this year, particularly over the newly added "Over

Search For Plants That Tolerate Next Summer's Scorching Heat

LOU ANN GOOD

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Now that summer is over, it may seem odd to talk about plants and container gardening, but growers are already gearing up for next spring.

Hundreds of growers swarmed around the research gardens recently at the Southeast Research and Extension Center, Landisville. It's the perfect spot to see new varieties and compare the plants with older varieties.

Gardeners know that what grows best in one climate may not grow well in another. The Landisville site is the ideal spot for trial gardens because the climate is similar to that experienced by 30 percent of the population. If it grows well in Landisville, it will probably do well in your garden.

It's different in Europe, where Europeans look for small, compact plants that do well in cool, cloudy conditions. In contrast, Americans want bigger plants with a longer blooming period and those that tolerate August's scorching sun.

"We look for uniformity, over-

Compared to Thursday, a mixed run of slaughter steers sold steady to weak on Monday. The Tuesday run was made up of 85 head of steers, therefore the light market was not well tested. However, there was definitely a lower undertone noted. The better-fed steers are still able to bring in the 90's, but the bottom end of the Choice cattle seem to be slipping back into the upper 80's; although the market is still miles ahead of where it was this time a year ago.

Holstein steers sold with a lower undertone as well, with slaughter heifers trading steady to .50 higher. Slaughter cows sold 3.00-5.00 lower, with a light run of slaughter bulls trading 2.00-4.00 lower. The two-day run included an estimated 232 head of slaughter steers, 59 slaughter heifers, 371 slaughter cows, 17 slaughter bulls, and 46 head of feeder cattle.

Slaughter Steers: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1135-1450 lbs mostly 93.00- 97.00, which were all singles, full 90.25-94.00 on Tueaday. Receipts 642 Last Week: 559 Last Year: 316

Compared to last Monday, barrows and gilts sold 1.00 higher, to nearly 2.00 higher at times. With the soaring price of red meat becoming very apparent to consumers, pork has become an option in the meat case; which in turn has brought up hog prices over the past two weeks. The supply included 406 head of barrows and gilts, 224 sows, 12 boars, with 249 head of roasters (not included in total).

Percent Lean Weight Price 49-54 220-270 lbs 44.50-45.75 fancier singles 46.25-47.50, 270-300 lbs 43.75-45.25

45-50 220-270 lbs 42.75-44.85 includes several nice groups 270-300 lbs 41.00-42.10, 300-350 lbs 37.35-40.60

Sows: Prices were mostly .75-1.00 higher on a run that was comprised of mainly lower quality sows.

U.S. 1-3 300-400 lbs 32.00; 400-500 lbs 32.00-34.00; 500-700 lbs 34.00-35.75

Boars: Prices were fully steady. 300-700 lbs 12.00-13.00; 200-300 lbs 22.50-25.50

National Egg Market At A Glance

Atlanta, Ga.
September 24, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

In New York and Chicago, prices were higher on mediums and unchanged on the remainder. Trade sentiment ranged steady to firm. Demand into all outlets was light to good. Supplies were well balanced to sufficient for the larger sizes and lighter weights were closely balanced to tight for present requirements. Breaking stock offerings were adequate to short for the moderate to good demand. Spent hen offerings were more than sufficient for the mostly fair demand.

New York Broilers/Fryers

ATLANTA, GA.
September 23, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Trucklot buying activity on ready-to-cook whole broiler/fryers was light to fair as dealers continue to monitor the market following the hurricane. Offerings of all sizes were at least adequate with discounting noted on the 3 pound birds. Retail and distributive draw was about fair. The market tone was barely steady on the 3 pound birds and no better than steady on the balance.

Des Moines, Iowa
September 23, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL YOUNG TURKEY PARTS AND BULK MEAT, Frozen, unless specified, cents per lb, delivered first receivers, part and full trucklots, as of Sept. 23. The trade sentiment on fresh tom breast meat was mixed. Some processors were firm on fresh tom breast meat for prompt shipments with a few buyers paying premiums to satisfy immediate needs, yet, others note spot discounting for future deliveries. Demand slow to instances moderate, best for immediate needs. Offerings ranged from instances tight for prompt shipments to sometimes fully adequate for deferred. The trade sentiment on white trim meats and mechanically separated turkey was fully steady to firm. Demand fair to good for the limited offerings. The trade sentiment on thigh meat, tom drums and wings was steady to firm with continued buyer price resistence noted as offering prices continued to climb. Tom neck trade sentiment steady. Inquiry fair to good. Offerings of tom necks adequate, balance of tom bulk part and thigh meat limited and held with confidence. Fresh wing meat traded at 58 cents delivered domestic.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
September 24, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Wheat bids were higher, while corn and soybeans were uneven for the day. Wheat found support from good export sales. Corn continues to be under pressure due to good yields but the higher wheat trade helped sustain bids. Soybeans saw light technical selling; however, the higher oil trade and poor yields helped support bids. Wheat was 6-18 cents higher except Portland 1-3 cents higher.

Corn was mix, from 1 cent lower to 1 cent higher. Sorghum was 1-5 cents higher.

Soybeans were mix, from 7 cents lower to 3 cents higher.

Michaelmas

Originally celebrated as the feast day of St Michael, September 29, or Michaelmas, continues to serve as a seasonal signpost In the British Isles, crops were harvested and sold by late September, so farmers paid their yearly rent to landowners on Michaelmas. Everyone ate goose at Michaelmas to bring prosperity, so many included "a goose fit for the lord's dinner" with their payment. Market fairs occurred just before the feast day, and large crowds made it convenient to hold elections then as well. The custom of fall elections has continued, but today they, as well as harvest celebrations and goose (or turkey) dinners, have shifted to November.

Red Cabbage with Apples

1 onion, chopped
4 tbsp. bacon fat
1 head cabbage, shredded
1/2 cup dry red wine
2 tbsp. vinegar
2 tbsp. brown sugar
2 apples, peeled and sliced
salt and pepper, to taste

Sauté the onion in bacon fat until tender. Add cabbage and stir well to coat. Add wine, vinegar, and sugar. Bring to a boil and add apples, salt, and pepper. Reduce heat, cover tightly, and simmer for about 45 minutes until tender, adding water as necessary.

MAKES 4 TO 6 SERVINGS.

Fair Trade: Getting Better All The Time

We are reminded of the quote from George Bernard Shaw: "If all economists were laid end to end, they would not reach a conclusion."

So it is with a grain of salt that you have to take some news about how, exactly, the "balance" of trade is. Especially when, just like anybody else, economists can also fail to do their homework — or simply are just human.

But some good news has come out of Cancun, Mexico, of all places, about how farmers and artisans in what used to be called "third world" countries are having enormous success selling products in developed countries, such as our own.

The report, sent early last month from the Fair Trade Federation, points to growing consumer awareness about large-scale corporate issues (maybe in cost-cutting during the down economy, some quality was lost on products?) and awareness that farmers in Mexico and other countries have to make a living, too.

The Fair Trade industry in North America and the Pacific Rim grew an impressive 37 percent over the past year, according to the 2003 Report on Fair Trade Trends, sponsored by the Fair Trade Federation and the International Federation for Alternative Trade, and published by Co-op America. Total Fair Trade sales in the U.S., Canada, and Pacific Rim reached $250.6 million.

Highlighting substantial growth in domestic import, sales, and employment, the report is good news for citizen groups concerned about worker mistreatment and corporate-led growth. The reports findings indicate growing consumer demand for goods that are traded through direct partnerships between economically disadvantaged artisans and farmers, and marketers in developed markets in the North.

Perhaps this reflects the upsurge in demand from our local farmers selling their goods at roadside stands — quality starts where you know who supplies the product, and where it's coming from.

To Manage Wind-Damaged Corn

The remnants of Hurricane Isabel that passed through last weekend caused significant wind damage to corn fields throughout central and southeastern Pennsylvania.

Extension corn specialist Greg Roth reports corn ranges from leaning over to broken above the ear to broken below the ear and some is completely flat. Damage seems to be a function of the exposure, planting date, corn borer injury, stalk rot, and genetics, and often varies dramatically from one field to the next. Late-planted fields seem especially hard hit in some areas. The poor root development, wet soils, tall corn, and high ear placement all contributed to lodging problems.

At this point, producers should not panic and focus first on fields that have significant amounts of corn that are broken off. These fields would be at most risk for developing moldy ears and low test weight grain and have the least recovery potential. If the corn is immature, a silage harvest would be appropriate, with storage plans reflecting the moisture content of the crop. For very wet silages, consider horizontal storage structures to minimize seepage.

Corn that is not broken off and leaning or bent over should mature at a slower pace but eventually reach physiological maturity. There is some risk of increased ear molds on this corn, especially on really down fields, so a silage harvest would be the preferred method of handling this crop. Roth suggests you should monitor these fields as they mature and harvest rapidly if significant ear molds begin to develop. Otherwise try to let the crop mature until it reaches the desired moisture for ensiling or shelled corn harvest. The best of the lodged fields to consider for shelled corn harvest would be those that have already developed a milk line and started to mature and those that only have patches of down corn.

There are mixed reports on harvest success with various equipment configurations. It may be a good idea to check with your farm equipment dealer on what is working in your area. Specialized harvesting equipment is available for harvesting down corn for grain. A list of manufacturers is available at Roth's Website at cornandsoybeans.psu.edu.

On the bright side, corn in many fields throughout the region withstood the high winds and has high yield potential for both silage and grain this year.

To Report Crop Losses To Your Crop Insurance Agent

The 30,000 policies purchased by Northeastern producers are providing protection and peace of mind in the aftermath of hurricane Isabel. In 2003 it is estimated that about one billion dollars of crop insurance protection is in force and bad weather such as hurricanes are among the covered causes of loss for most crops. The protection in force in Pennsylvania alone is estimated at 15,789 policies, providing $280 million of protection.

Producers are encouraged to report crop damage immediately to their insurance agent. They should also discuss what they plan to do with the damaged crop(s) and ask for specific instructions of what is required of them as supporting evidence in the event that a claim results. If a producer wants a second opinion, they can also ask their insurance agent to help them to get in contact with the insurance company fieldman or a loss adjuster.

In most cases, producers are likely to continue caring for the damaged crop(s) and harvest the remaining production. In such instances, if after harvesting the production is less than the insurance guarantee, a loss payment will be made for the shortfall below the guarantee. However, if producers decide to make other use of damaged crop(s) (including cutting for hay or silage, grazing, disking, or simply not harvesting, etc.) an insurance loss adjuster usually needs to do a damage assessment before evidence is destroyed.

To Assist Those In Heavily Damaged Areas With Silage Harvest

The heavy damage in some areas from last week's high winds has created a huge demand for silo filling services that has overwhelmed the local custom operator's ability to meet the need. The late season combined with numerous weather delays had the harvesting crews behind schedule before the hurricane hit. This is exaggerated by the need of farmers who normally harvest with horses to now have their fields custom chopped.

In the areas of the region where there was little storm damage, there may be custom operators who would be willing to assist the hard-hit areas for a few days. Others may have choppers or wagons they are no longer using and would be willing to loan or sell that equipment. Coordinating those who are willing to help with those who need help is a challenge.

To assist with this, the Lancaster extension office will compile lists of those who can help and those who need services. Call the office at (717) 394-6851 during normal business hours from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. and let us know what you have to offer, whether it would be custom chopping services, equipment for sale or loan, or other assistance. If you need custom chopping service, equipment, or other help, call us as well and we will add your name to the list.

By Tuesday, Sept. 30, we will post on the Lancaster County Website (http://lancaster.extension.psu.edu) a link entitled "Silage Harvest Help." When you click on that link, you will be able to choose the list of those offering services or those requiring services. We will update this list each evening based on the calls we received that day.

1 Peter 5:1-6.

One of the goals of the 20th century was worldwide peace, a goal shared by Christians and non-Christians as well. Today the situation with world peace is disheartening. Historians now tell us that the 20th century was the bloodiest in human history, and this would have been true even without the Holocaust and the atomic bomb. During the 20th century, 160 million people perished in warfare.

Homo Sapiens is supposed to be in the process of evolution, but the evidence is not encouraging. In the past 3,130 years of history, there were only 227 years of peace and 3,130 years of war. We average one year of peace for every 13 years of war. From 1500 BC to 1869, there were more than 8,000 treaties of peace, which were meant to remain in force forever. The average time they remained in force was two years.

A few weeks ago I read that in Caesar's time it cost 75 cents to kill a man in battle. By Napoleon's day, the cost had risen to $3,000. During our Civil War, the cost of killing a Billie Yank or a Johnnie Reb had gone up to $5,000. In World War I, the cost had skyrocketed to $21,000 and, by World War II, that figure had more than doubled to $50,000. After Korea, Vietnam and two Iraqi wars, I can't imagine today's cost.

The 21st Century

Today, less than three years into the new millennium, the search for peace has lost significant ground and momentum and, having experienced 9/11, conquered Iraq — at least militarily — some people are already talking about Iran and North Korea being next on our list.

Back in 1924 Thomas Hardy wrote this verse:

Peace upon earth was said, we sing it
And pay a million priests to bring it.
After two thousand years of mass,
We've got as far as poison gas.

And now, about 80 years later, we've gotten as far as nuclear weapons of mass destruction and propaganda of mass deception.

Biologist Hudson Hoagland noted, "I believe that we are animals, and that we are a special kind of animal.... We are imaginative animals. When we want to be cruel, we can be cruel in a thoroughly imaginative way. I do not think you can find any animals that could have produced the genocide of 6 million Jews.... This is a human performance. I do not think you could find a concentration camp developed by animals.... Genocide is characteristic of the human animal, and so is war."

This human trait led theologian Reinhold Niebuhr to observe that "man is a kind of lion who both kills the lamb and also dreams of the day when the lion and the lamb shall lie down together."

I find it ironic that many of those of us who follow and worship Jesus, the Prince of Peace, do not show much enthusiasm for peacemaking. We do have a Nobel Prize for peacemakers, but the winners are hardly remembered by the world, while the generals and war makers are. Organized Christianity, which began as a pacifistic faith, shows very little appreciation for pacifists and conscientious objectors.

Enmity With God

James asks: "What causes wars, and what causes fighting among you? Is it not your passions that are at war in your members?" You desire and do not have; so you kill. And you covet and cannot obtain; so you fight and wage war" (4:1-3). James also indicates that war is still valued in the world, if not in the teachings of Jesus Christ. Yet James says, "Unfaithful creatures! Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God?" (4:4).

In 1944, General George S. Patton, taking command of the U.S. Third Army in England, told his troops that, apart from preserving our liberties and defeating Nazism, they were there is "because men like to fight. They always have and they always will. Some sophists and crackpots deny that. They don't know what they're talking about. They are either (expletive deleted) fools or cowards or both. Men like to fight, and if they don't, they're not real men."

So, was Jesus a coward or a fool? Was he not a "real man"?

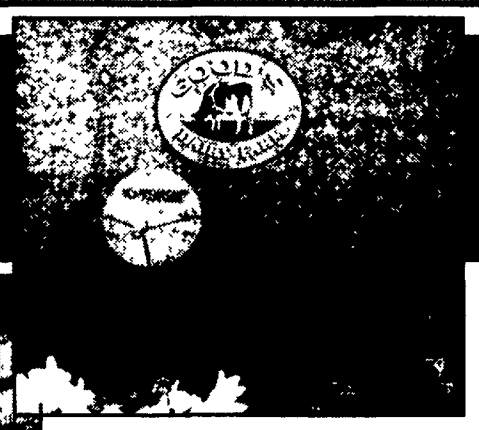
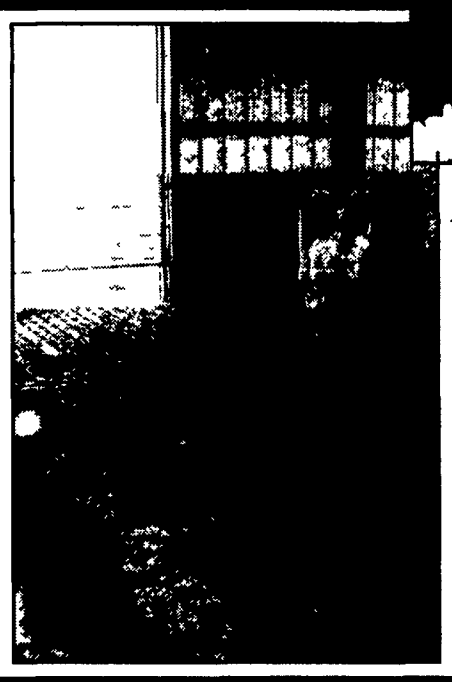
"The biggest benefit is the labor savings."





"My only regret is that I wish I had made the pit under the barn deeper."

"In my previous barn, I scraped two times a day; and I was tired of it, not to mention the danger to the cows if a cable snapped. I thought I would not be able to justify the additional cost until my builder suggested a design change which brought the cost down relatively close to the original design.

The biggest benefit to me is the labor savings. Two people can handle all the chores for our herd. I save money not only on labor but also on repairs.

The cows' hooves are healthier, and they show heat better because they are not afraid of slipping. During the five years with slats, I have not lost a single heifer from slipping. The cows stay much cleaner, even with my misting system for cooling them. The water has a place to escape."

East Fluid Milk And Cream Review

Madison, Wis.
September 24, 2003
Report Supplied by USDA

SPOT PRICES OF CLASS II CREAM, dollars per lb butterfat: F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: 1.6303-1.9397. Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta: 1.6541-1.9040 mostly 1.7136-1.8564.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .8700-.9300. Class III, spot prices: 1.1500-1.3000

SPOTS SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This Week: In 204, Out 0; Last Week: In 204, Out 0; Last Year: In 168, Out 0. SOUTHEAST STATES: This Week: In 40, Out 0; Last Week: In 40, Out 0; Last Year: In 0, Out 0

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to changes in milk supply agreements, milk import/export totals are not directly comparable to year ago figures and to shipments prior to April 1, 2003.

During August, milk production in the 20 major states totaled 12.13 billion pounds, down 0.8% from August 2002. The following are the August-to-August changes for selected states: Texas [5] .3%, New York -1.4%, Vermont -3.6%, Pennsylvania -4.6%, Florida -9.0%, Kentucky -9.6% and Virginia -10.1%. The base price for Class I milk for October 2003 is $14.27 per cwt., up $.56 from September. A Class I differential specific to each pricing point (county) is added to the base price to determine the applicable Class I price. The Class II skim milk price for October is $6.66, down $0.03 from September.

The aftermath of Hurricane Isabel is still being felt in the Middle Atlantic area. Residents and businesses in the Carolinas, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania are still without electricity. While power was lost, affected plants had to redirect their milk to other outlets and now that power is being restored or generators are available, these plants want milk back and some are rather impatient about getting it back. Milk handlers are working as best they can to find the milk and trucks to resupply these plants. It is too early to know definitively, but early reports indicate that very little farm-milk was lost. Most farms have generators and quite often, haulers made early pick ups so that the farmers would have room in their tanks during the storm. Bottled milk demand is good as stores restock their shelves, but many schools are still closed due to loss of power. Returned milk and its handling are an issue for many bottlers.

Elsewhere, milk output is showing more signs of increasing in the Southeast and steady in the Northeast. Outside of the "storm area" the milk and cream business is little changed. Florida's need for milk is steady this week. Volumes of surplus milk are tight and most manufacturing plants are operating well below capacity levels.

The condensed skim market is fairly good for Class II, but slow for Class III. Most sales are contractual, but some spot interest is noted where buyers are not getting enough from regular suppliers. The fluid cream market remains firm. Offerings are tight early in the week, but adequate late in the week. Demand is good and readily clears most of the current offerings. Spot prices are higher since the CME average price of butter increased 2.5 cents last week. Isabel disrupted all levels of the market late last week and things are just getting back to some semblance of normalcy this week. Churning activity is limited.

The Nov. 22 issue of Lancaster Farming's Dairy Plus is scheduled to include the latest quarterly TPI bull proof summaries for the major breeds as a regular part of the book. Also scheduled: sire information from businesses, our first Dairy Plus Out-standing Farm feature, and business and dairy cooperative news highlights.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

National Feeder Cattle Weekly Review

St. Joseph, Mo.
September 19, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL FEEDER & STOCKER CATTLE SUMMARY - Week Ending Sept. 10 —Total Receipts. 421,700; last week 382,200; last year 478,400 Direct. 58,300, last week 77,300, last year 76,900 Video/Internet. 41,400, last week 8,300, last year 105,600 Auctions· 322,000, last week 296,600, last year 295,900. This week's auction volume included 34 percent over 600 lb and 44 percent heifers

Compared to last week, yearling feeder cattle prices were steady to 2.00 higher Calf prices were uneven, with weaned calves selling steady to 3 00 higher, but soft bawlers and Southeastern crossbreds trended weak to as much as 3.00 lower on lighter demand. Demand should be good from winter wheat buyers, but most are busy sowing their crop and simply dont have the time to care for new arrivals The few wheat interests that are in the market are quickly snatching up the weaned and vaccinated offerings that will be easy to straighten up.

The backgrounders that wait to enter the market will find a double edged sword; mostly unweaned-fleshy calves and unpredictable weather with hot days and cold nights. This can quickly cause medicine costs and death rates to soar. But, calf buyers wouldnt want to trade places with yearling buyers who are paying close to the same price per pound for a lot more weight. Prices for 700-900 lb feeders broke new ground again this week, along with finished cattle and boxed beef cut-out values. It's still not clear how high these markets can go, but we may find out soon. Cattle and beef markets are showing signs of top-side resistance; with uneven feeder demand, a lighter finished cattle movement, and a volatile futures market.

Packers bought around 110,000 less slaughter cattle this week than they did last week and some are electing to reduce slaughter rates rather than pay record prices for green cattle, even if it means going dark. The Choice- Select spread has grown to 30.00 cwt which sounds even worse when you say its well over 200.00 per head. These record high Choice beef prices are just now starting to hit the retail level which could drive the housewife to a porkchop and send the restaurant menu to the printshop.

Friday's cattle- on-feed report was within expectations with 3 percent less cattle on feed September 1st than a year ago. There was also 3 percent less cattle marketed in the month of August, but placements in August were 7 percent more than in 2002. These extra numbers that were put on feed were a bit higher than most experts had guessed, but a large percentage of the increase weighed under 600 lbs. Also, Iowa feeders (which are mostly independent farmers) placed 41 percent more cattle on feed this August than they did a year ago. What a corn crop!

Eastern Cornbelt Direct Feeder Cattle Weekly

Springfield, Ill.
September 19, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Eastern Cornbelt Direct Feeder Cattle Summary — Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio — Compared to last week, feeder cattle were 1.00-4.00 higher on cattle under 800 lbs. Heavier weight feeder cattle were mostly weak to 3.00 lower. Slightly weaker slaughter cattle prices and lower futures values pressured the heavier weight feeder prices. Demand for feeders remains strong despite the downturn in the market Trading was moderate to active but producers in some parts of the cornbelt are more concerned with their grain harvest and aren't marketing their cattle as aggressively. Reported sales consisted of about 50% beef steers, 47% heifers and 3% Holstein steers. Approximately 100% of the cattle marketed this week weighed over 600 lbs. Confirmed sales 2150 this week, 2825 last week and 1500 last year

PIT POWER

Farmers and composters - Here is a breakdown for compost and manure pits and manure piles! Pit Power is bacteria and bacteria feeders that break down solids in manure pits and septic tanks and breakdown compost faster

Clean out your pit with ease, use Pit Power! One gallon of Pit Power per 10,000 to 20,000 gal. of pit volume. Should be repeated approx 2 times a year! If aeration of the pit is possible, it will help the bacteria to grow and work faster to break down solids. Pit Power's purpose is to add life (bacteria) in the manure, which then is returned to the soil where a bacteria is working. The smell of pit manure is not so strong. Pit Power is a non-toxic product - Life to Feed Life!

Price is $58.00 per gallon
(6 gal or more - $55 per gallon) Full UPS fee will be charged if payment is not with order Send orders to HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A senior-3-year-old cow owned by Ronnie and Pam Morse earned top honors at the Pennsylvania Holstein Championship ShowTuesday.

The grand champion cow, Five Forks Seahawk Jade, hails from the Morse's Five Forks Farm, Clearville, Bedford County.

James Kahler of Highlight Holsteins, Wellsboro, exhibited the reserve champion, senior-2-year-old Deep-Valley Leduc Robin.

In the heifer show, a pair of spring yearling full sisters shown by James Burdette of Windy-Knoll-View Holsteins, Mercersburg, took the top two placings. Windy-Knoll-View Parade-ET was grand champion, with Windy-Knoll-Parade-ET taking the reserve spot.

Scott Walton of Tower Vue Holsteins, Carlisle, led his 4-year-old Tower-Vue Lee Ruthie to the youth grand championship. Youth reserve grand champion honors went to another 4-year-old cow, shown by Juliana Hillegass of Berlin.

Dustin Horning, Stevens, showed the youth junior champion, winter yearling Turnpike View Redmarker Joy.

Youth reserve junior champion was Burnside-Manor Vision Belle, a summer yearling exhibited by Benjamin Cashell of Na-Paul Farms, Chambersburg.

Just before the grand champion cows were selected, Charlie Itle was honored for his 30 years of service as manager of the All-American Dairy Show. On hand to present the recognition award were Pennsylvania Ag Secretary Dennis Wolff and Obie Snider, president of the All-American board of directors.

"Two things stand out in my mind — quality cows and quality people," Itle said, reflecting on three decades of the All-American Dairy Show.

Chris Hill of Mt. Airy, Md., judged this year's Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show and called the following results:

all growth," said Alan Michael who led a recent tour of the variety trials during the Capitol Region Summer Turf and Ornamental School.

Participants could choose from several workshops that included weed, turf, soil, tree, and disease control. Alan Michael explained the variety trials are conducted in search for new and improved plants. Every plant is clearly marked to help visitors identify the variety.

Weather plays an important role in a plant's results. Three identical plants of each variety are planted by May 20.

The flowers are planted outdoors. To replicate growing annuals in shade, canvas topping is placed over plants in adjacent areas.

"If they don't look good by July 4, they are doomed for a low rating," Michael said.

Last summer was the driest and hottest in Pennsylvania's history. The hottest. It severely stressed the flowers. This year's early spring brought torrential downpours and continual rain with little sun.

The unpredictable weather can result in different performances, but the outdoor location is comparable to the gardens where they will be planted, unlike trial gardens, where irrigation is controlled.

Plants are evaluated for performance on a numerical score: 1 is unacceptable, 2 is poor, 3 is acceptable, 4 is good, and 5 is excellent.

Plants are scored every two to three weeks on appearance of flowers and foliage, uniformity, pest problems, and overall landscape display.

Best of species is reserved for cutivars with the highest rating in their respective categories.

Weather isn't the only circumstance that causes plants to yellow. Michael said, "Ivy is notorious for getting yellow, usually from lack of iron. Add iron, but only on amounts specified. Too much causes toxicity.

"There are 137 varieties of new Guinea impatiens. You'd be hard pressed to find a bad one in all those varieties, but five years ago, it was the opposite," Michael said.

Hundreds of people attended the Capitol Region Summer Turf and Ornamental School at the Southeast Research and Extension Center, Landisville, in search of plants that bloom well from May through September.

Search For Blooming Plants That Tolerate Next Summer's Scorching Heat

New Guinea Impatiens flower better in shade where soil temperature is lower. However, some varieties do well in full sun. Many varieties of Impatiens are grown for sun and shade. Those grown in the shade have larger flowers but fewer of them than those grown in full sun. The flowers last longer in the shade, about 3-4 days. Those in the sun last only one day and the plant leaves tend to curl in the sun.

Another plant growing in popularity is Ageratum, which has excellent flowers covered with showy flowers and is mite tolerant.

Angelonia, a snapdragon-like appearance, makes a good bedding and cut flower. It is gaining in popularity and is an excellent cut flower.

An often overlooked flower, according to Michael, is the begonia. "Begonias started flowering in the greenhouse and never stopped throughout the summer, even in 100-degree heat. It's outstanding in both sun and shade."

Another variety was Bracteantha, which is an Australian flowering plant with outstanding displays of blooms on compact plants. Coleus is making a strong comeback with attractive leaf color and sun tolerance. Ornamental sweet potatoes have gained popularity for their extreme vigor in containers and landscapes.

Visitors at the trial gardens read labels of each plant to determine its rating and the name. As a labor-saving measure, flowers are grown in pots instead of planted in the ground.

Container Gardening

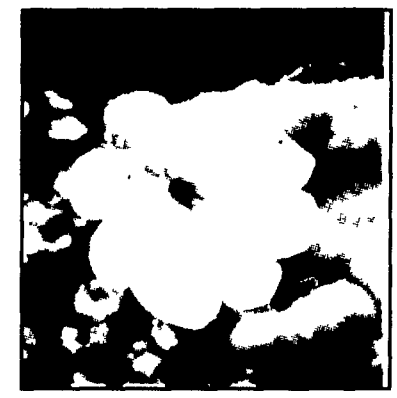
Wendy Brister, River Valley Landscapes Inc., Wrightsville, taught a workshop on container gardening.

"The biggest boom in marketing is in container design and property management," Brister said to those who plant for profit. "It takes extra investment, but has the greatest markup potential."

Many consumers busy with careers like to come home to nice gardens. But they can't do the work themselves because of time constraints.

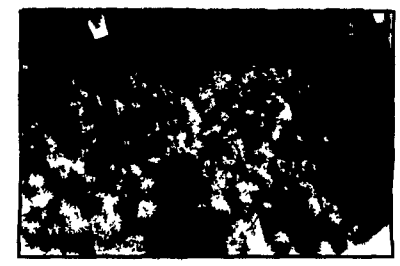
Whether you plan to plant in containers for yourself or for resale, Wendy offers these pointers:

- In container selection, terra cotta appeals to many, but it has its drawbacks. It absorbs moisture, and containers must be watered twice daily during hot weather. Do not leave terra cotta outside during winter weather.
- Wood planters are nice but do not hold up many seasons.
- Metal, lead, and copper containers are popular. They don't blow over easily and the rust that forms is appealing.
- Stone and fiberglass containers are booming. They last forever and are lighter to transport. Incredible advances have been made in the manufacture of fiberglass that can give the appearance of copper, rust, and stone finishes.



Look how large the blooms are on this Rocky Mountain geranium.

- Baskets, wheelbarrows, an old kitchen sink — be a garden artist. The more creative the idea, the more people love it.
- Cluster containers to make more dramatic displays. Brister recommends clustering three different varieties in different levels. Use color contrast and also leaf contrast in texture and shape.
- At the end of the growing season, leave the soil in the container and insert evergreens and twigs that have been spray-painted for holiday accents.



Summer blooming Agyranthemum (daisies) come in a variety of colors.

DelVal Awarded $215,000 To Build New Sheep Facilities

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Delaware Valley College announced it has received a $215,000 grant from the Warwick Foundation to build a state-of-the-art small ruminant facility.

The new facility will provide students with an opportunity to see first-hand a structure that facilitates management practices associated with modern, economical sheep and wool production. It will also permit the College to expand its community outreach programs for area farm-flock producers. A workroom facility will also be included for teaching surgery, artificial insemination, and other demonstrations in livestock production.

Located in Philadelphia, the Warwick Foundation provides funding for scholarships, culture, civic affairs, historic preservation and social services.

SOY-BASED BIODIESEL.

You grow soybeans. Your soybean checkoff helped develop soy-based biodiesel. Government and industry studies show it's good for your engines, the environment, and U.S. farmers.

Farmers are the second-largest consumers of diesel fuel in the U.S. So when you request biodiesel, fuel suppliers will listen. Ask your fuel supplier to carry B2 - a two-percent blend of pure, ASTM D-6751 quality soy-based biodiesel. It's available throughout the United States, so why not ask for it and use it?

Using B2 on your farm supports the industry's growth, by increasing the number of suppliers for high-quality biodiesel fuel. And, a B2 blend provides increased lubricity for your engines, a boost in cetane, and reduced dependence on foreign oil

Studies show that if every farmer used B2, we could utilize more than 50 million bushels of soybeans per year - the combined 2001 annual soybean harvests of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. Imagine the potential.

ASK FOR IT. PUMP IT. PROFIT.

All-American Dairy Show Posts Youth Showmanship Results

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Brothers and sisters dominated the youth showmanship contest at the All-American Dairy Show, Sunday, Sept. 21. More than 230 youth from numerous states competed for top honors in three age divisions at the Farm Show Complex.

Judge Mark Bachman of Potter County chose Mackenzie Reynolds, 11, Corfu, N.Y. as champion showman of the junior division. She is the daughter of John and Shelley Reynolds. Mackenzie shined in her ability to show her winter Holstein calf, Reyncrest Mandel Happy-ET. She was among a field of 58 participants. MacKenzie is a sixth grade student in the Pembrooke Intermediate School. She has been showing for five years, and is a member of her local 4-H club, Genese County Dairy Club.

"I was so nervous, and then they called my name as champion. I was so excited," said MacKenzie. Results as follows were second, Rebecca Shaw, Williamsburg, and third, Amelia Poteet, Whiteford, Md.

Keeping the Reynolds Family streak going was Mackenzie's brother Tyler, selected as champion of the intermediate division by Judge Sandy Crawford of Rome from among a field of 133 youth. Tyler led his Holstein fall calf, Miss Co-Vista Rubens Layla, to the championship award. Tyler is 13 years old and attends Pembrooke High School. He has been showing for more than six years and belongs to the 4-H club with his younger sister. "Pretty Cool!" was Tyler's comments after receiving the award. Finishing the top were second, Melissa Schuler of Fleetwood, and third, Madison Fisher of Newville.

In the senior division, 66 juniors competed for top honors. The contest was judged by Jane Pebble of Oxford for the showmanship portion, and the fitting portion was judged by David Packard of Troy. Winning the division by a combined score from both portions was Dustin Horning of Stevens. Dustin is 19 and works on the family farm, Turnpike View Holsteins, in Stevens. He is the son of Paul and Shirley Horning. Dustin's sister, Kelly, placed ninth in the contest. His other sister, Lindsay, was champion of the junior division in 2001 and champion of the intermediate division in 2002 at the All-American Dairy Show. This was Dustin's first time to compete and when asked how he felt, he said, "Well, all of those years of showing in 4-H really paid off big."

Completing the field of senior division placings were second, Cory Thompson of Wellsville, and third, Brent Schuler of Fleetwood.

Swine Enthusiasts Prepare For Eastern Regional

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Youth swine exhibitors from across the country will be gathering here for the third annual National Junior Swine Association Eastern Regional Show, Oct. 3-4 at the Farm Show Complex during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

The eastern regional will consist of a purebred gilt show, a showmanship contest, and a Skillathon. Points will be awarded to participants in these three events and compiled toward a sweepstakes contest, where awards will be given to the top five contestants in each age division. The age divisions are as follows: novice (8 and under), junior (9-12), intermediate (13-16), and senior (17-21). Thousands of dollars will be given away in awards and premiums throughout the weekend.

Registration and check-in will be conducted from 4 p.m.-6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 3. All junior gilts must be in place by 6 p.m., Friday. Showmanship for novice participants will begin at 7:30 p.m., followed by junior showmanship.

The Skillathon will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 4. All skillathon participants must be registered by 10:30 a.m. The senior and intermediate showmanship contest will take place on Saturday at 1 p.m., followed by the purebred gilt show. Jim McCoy, Bloomingburg, Ohio, will be evaluating the showmanship contest and gilt show entries. The sweepstakes awards will be presented following the gilt show.

All NJSA members ages 21 and under are invited to attend and participate in the NJSA eastern regional. Preregistration is not required for the skillathon, so all interested youth are welcome to come out to the Farm Show Complex and participate in this event. A $5 entry fee will be charged to all participants who do not exhibit a gilt.

For more information, contact Jennifer Shike, NSR Director of Junior Activities, at (765) 463-3594 or (217) 485-5315. Information is also available at www.nationalswine.com.

KILE Shepherd's Lead Line

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Who looks better, the sheep or the shepherd? Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) Shepherd's Lead Line Competition, Saturday, Oct. 4, noon, at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a Livestock Show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely. But in KILE's Lead Line Competition, the leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit (at least 80 percent wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal our show. The KILE herdsperson must not only look good, but the sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

Milking Shorthorn Show Leads Off All-American Colored Breed Competitions

CHARLENE M. SHUPP
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Milking Shorthorn Show took center stage Tuesday afternoon to begin the first of six colored breed shows to be conducted at the 2003 All American Dairy Show.

At the end of the day, judge Steve Hendress of Wolcott, Ind. pulled Halpin's Mona-EXP to the center of the ring as the Milking Shorthorn grand champion owned by Halpin Farms of Cullom, Ill. Joining the Halpins in the ring as the reserve was Weissmann Flame Othello Furius, owned by Gene, Ryan, and Christine Weissmann Holcomb of Greene, N.Y.

In the youth show, grand champion winner was Kuszmar DJ Pris-Exp, exhibited by Steven Kuszlyk of Batavia, N.Y. Rounding out the grand champion youth pair was Tudor Hall Fortyniner Rosy-EXP, owned by Dylan Pheasant of Williamsburg, Blair County.

Both the grand and reserve grand champions in both the open and youth show were selected as the intermediate champions in their divisions.

Other champion winners in the open show were senior champion, Innisfail RB Princess 787-EXP, owned by Gregory and Marcia Clark of Cornish Flat, N.H. and reserve senior champion, Kuszmar D-H Raven owned by Majorie Kuszlyk of Batavia, N.Y. Junior champion pair winners were junior champion: Halpin's Gracie owned by Amy Halpin of Cullom, Ill. and reserve junior champion, Cate's Clay Nicol-EXP, owned by Pete Cate of Warren, N.H.

In the youth division, senior champion recognition went to GMC Rebel Jiffy, exhibited by Justin Clark of Cornish Flat, N.H. Youth reserve senior champion was Viking Valley Plum Megg-Exp, owned by Steven Kuszlyk of Batavia, N.Y. Youth junior champion was Tudor Hall RD Cindy G, exhibited by Katie Albaugh of Walkersville, Md. Reserve junior champion was Bar-D Harp-EXP, exhibited by Elaine Bodey of Urbana, Ohio.

Six-Horse Hitch Set For Keystone

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On Friday, Oct. 3, the Farm Show will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The All-Breed Classic Series 6-Horse Hitch will begin at 6 p.m. in the Equine Arena of the Farm Show Complex. An admission fee of $5 per person will be charged at the gate.

The six-horse hitches come from seven states and represent four major draft horse-breeds. In 2002, more than 300 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the U.S. and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is again a qualifying show for the series final. Prize money totaling more than $38,000 will be awarded at the KILE show.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. KILE has been chosen as one of 45 recognized qualifying shows on the Classic Series Show circuit. Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at qualifying shows spread across Canada and the U.S. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All-Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap. The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

More than 750 draft horses will be on display. More than 30 six-horse hitches will be in competition at KILE.

KILE is Sept. 30-Oct. 6 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

Workshops To Focus On Newborn Calf Health

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — A hands-on workshop designed to improve calf health and lower the mortality rate during the first three days of life will be offered at two sites in October.

Dairy Alliance and Penn State Cooperative Extension are partnering to present the Calf Sense Workshop on Thursday, Oct. 2, at Meadow-Vista Farm in Lancaster County and on Friday, Oct. 24, at Greenwood Farms in Mifflin County.

Calf Sense is an intensive educational program that focuses on ensuring calf health and survival. "The program is aimed at dairy managers and employees who have responsibilities in the maternity area or the young calf area, as well as dairy advisors who consult in these areas," explained Richard Stup, human resource specialist with Dairy Alliance. The program is also appropriate for dairy farms that use custom calf raisers because it focuses specifically on the first three days of life, added Stup.

Workshop participants will learn how to: conduct a basic examination of young dairy calves; identify common health problems; and achieve consistency in calf care. Standard operating procedures, record-keeping, and colostrum management will also be explained.

"Calf Sense helped us to get a better understanding of what's going on inside the calf," said Tony Brubaker, a partner in Brubaker Farms in Lancaster.

The fee to attend is $45 per person. Lunch is included. A colostrometer is required and may be purchased at a discounted workshop rate. Space is limited and participants are urged to register now by contacting the Dairy Alliance at (888) 373-7232.

KILE Announces PLA Youth Awards

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) has recognized outstanding 4-H and FFA Youth for the past 26 years. The winners are selected from a field of candidates submitted by county extension personnel and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the commonwealth.

The female FFA Youth Award winner is Hannah Etzler, daughter of James and Deborah Etzler of Beavertown. Hannah was a four-year member of the West Snyder FFA Chapter. She hails from a large family with strong agricultural roots. Sheep, beef and hogs have all been raised on the family farm. For her FFA project, Hannah raised Shropshire sheep in both breeding and finishing areas. She also raised market hogs, marketing both the hogs and market sheep at the Youth Livestock Sale at the Beaver Fair. Hannah has stood in the champion ring with her market animals on several occasions, a fete she credits in part to the help of her extended family. Her personal achievements include being a member of the FFA chapter livestock judging team that won the SUN Area FFA CDE for the past four years. She has also judged in the KILE Stockman's Contest and participated actively in the activities of her local FFA Chapter. Hannah played soccer in high school, was a member of the AYSO Soccer team and was a 4-H member. A freshman at Keystone College in Scranton Hannah is an elementary education major and plays soccer on the school's team.

The FFA male Youth Award winner is Andrew Stein, a son of Ronald and Vicki Stein of Red Lion. A June graduate, Andy was a four-year member of the Red Lion Area FFA Chapter. He is currently employed at Hope Acres, a beef and dairy farm in Brogue. Andy raised market hogs for both FFA and 4-H, marketing them at the York Fair Junior Livestock Sale. He was a member of the PA 4-H Meats Judging Team in 2002 and was second place individual at the National Contest. Having won the state 4-H state tractor driving championship, Andy will be competing in the National contest in Indiana just prior to receiving the KILE Youth Award. His achievements include several FFA awards, holding offices in his local FFA chapter, a member of judging teams and a member of the National Honor Society. Outside school, Andy is active in Freysville Emanuel UCC Church and York County 4-H.

The Outstanding female 4-H award winner is Jill Gevin, daughter of Milo and Margaret Gevin of Cochranton. A sophomore Food Science major at Penn State, Jill's future goal is to work in a career dealing with food safety while continuing to raise sheep. Jill began showing sheep at age five and joined 4-H when she was eight. She has 11 registered Oxford sheep and shows both breeding sheep and market lambs at local fairs and KILE. An 11-year member of 4-H, Jill was very active in Crawford County, holding offices in her club and participating in many countywide activities. and attended National 4-H Congress in 2002.

Nathan Tice, son of Thomas and Debra Tice of Lebanon is recognized as the Outstanding 4-H male. A freshman at Black Hawk College in Kewanee, Ill., Nathan plans to complete a two-year degree program and work in the livestock industry. His 4-H career began at age 8, with market lambs and hogs, but soon expanded to include beef animals. Nathan showed the grand champion market steer at the 2003 Pennsylvania Farm Show and won honors with his Shorthorn cattle. He owns six shorthorn cows and will be selling at the Shorthorn sale at KILE this year. A member of the 2001 PA 4-H Livestock Judging Team, Nathan placed in the top 10 nationally for oral reasons. In school, he played soccer and baseball in junior high and was active in FFA in senior high. He is a member of Millcreek Lutheran Church, Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, PLA, and the Pennsylvania and National Junior Shorthorn associations.

The youth will be recognized at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition opening ceremony in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex on Thursday, Oct. 2 at 4 p.m. They will receive a plaque and a monetary award.

Crawford County Calf Contest Deadline Oct. 1

COCHRANTON (Crawford Co.) — The Crawford County Holstein Club is offering its fifth annual calf contest for youth between the ages of 8 and 13.

Contestants must write an essay of 100 words or less describing why they would like to own a calf and how they would care for it.

The calf winner must breed the heifer to a registered Holstein bull, and the first registered female offspring must be given back to the Crawford County Holstein Club to be donated to another child.

Contestants must have essays postmarked by Oct. 1 to be eligible.

Participating youth must between the ages of 8 and 13 as of Jan. 1, 2004.

Send essays to Eleanor Kalinowski, 2013 State Hwy. 173, Cochranton, PA 16314.

Farmers from the Crawford County area wishing to donate a calf to the cause should contact any of the Crawford County Holstein directors, or Kalinowski at (814) 425-2650.

that a lot of the corn is blown down, getting good quality silage is going to be even harder.

While soybeans were also "knocked down pretty good" in some areas, Anderson said, yield losses will be much less severe than in the corn crop. Alfalfa and other hay crops should be unaffected.

Pumpkins — a big cash crop for some farmers — "seem to be taking a hit," with many beginning to rot in the field from the generally wet conditions, including a storm Monday night that brought between three and four inches of rain to much of the state and caused flooding in some areas. That was more rain than the area received from the hurricane itself, which totaled about two inches in Lancaster County.

Greg Roth, extension agronomist at University Park, said he has heard the worst reports of corn damage coming in from the southeastern counties of Lebanon, Lancaster, and Chester, and from the Big Valley area around Belleville, Mifflin County. He also noted flattened corn in York County and northern Maryland, as well as scattered damage throughout the midstate.

Downed corn near Meadow Valley Road from Tropical Storm Isabel. Some harvest losses could be expected.

Corn maturity, the lay of the land, pest damage, and type of hybrid all played into how well the stalks survived the storm, according to Roth.

"There's quite a variety of different kinds of wind damage," he said.

In addition, another storm early in the week on top of the hurricane put the county in a rainfall surplus, about seven inches over normal for the year, according to some reports. Flooding was rampant and widespread near flood areas, including the Conestoga River.

As for hurricane damage, the worst is in late-planted cornfields that grew tall and never developed good roots because of wet growing conditions through the summer, Roth said. Many of these plantings suffered root lodging from the hurricane winds — stalks blowing down because the roots were unable to hold in the wet soil.

Farmers should not be in hurry to harvest these late-planted fields, according to Roth. He noted that the corn will continue to mature as long as the root system is intact.

The wind and rain of Tropical Storm Isabel proved disastrous for corn farmers, as this photo taken near Millway shows.

"One concern I have is that a lot of this late-planted corn is not ready for silage harvest," Roth said. "I would urge farmers not to panic, and let it mature." They should monitor for ear mold in the meantime, he noted.

Isabel also broke stalks in some fields, especially weaker hybrids, or those with stalk rot or corn borer damage, according to Roth.

"On a positive note," he said, "a lot of the corn fared the high winds pretty well."

Rich Kammerer, a custom harvester from Gettysburg, Adams County, said a lot of corn in the area is "leaning." He has also seen a few flattened cornfields, especially narrow, 15-inch row silage plantings where stalks are thinner than in fields with lower plant populations.

Corn was knocked down by a one-two punch: a combination of Hurricane Isabel and heavy rains Monday night on a field near Farmersville Road west of Farmersville.

Isabel Flattens Cornfields

"There might be some fields we have to abandon," Kammerer said.

This week, Kammerer was waiting for drier conditions to work in the fields again. He uses a multidirectional head for harvesting corn silage.

"It probably isn't the best head for down corn, but for 15-inch (row spacing) corn, there's no other choice," he said.

Earlier planted fields generally stood better in the storm and will be OK for grain harvest, according to Roth. But because so much of the corn crop was planted late, many farmers will be harvesting more silage than they anticipated.

That will likely result in a shortage of harvesting machines in some areas, including Lancaster County and the Big Valley.

Leon Ressler, extension director in Lancaster County, is compiling a list of custom harvesters who will be available to harvest corn silage in Lancaster County, as well as a list of farmers who need someone to harvest their corn. Read his Now Is The Time column on page A10 this week. Those who want to be put on the list should contact Ressler at (717) 394-6851.

Farmers interested in learning about innovative harvesting machine attachments for down corn can also check out Greg Roth's Website: cornandsoybeans.psu.edu.

Other ag-related reports in the wake of Isabel include fruit tree damage and apple losses in the south-central part of the state and scattered destruction to farm buildings and trees.

Dave Lower of Boyer Nurseries and Orchards, Biglerville, estimated about 5 percent of their apple crop was dropped by the wind. A small percentage of trees also blew down, he said.

However, damage was worse in some other orchards, according to Lower. He said he spoke to a small-scale Franklin County apple grower who lost about half his crop.

In the Elizabethtown area of Lancaster County, a Virginia-style cattle barn was reportedly destroyed by the wind.

Rains Monday night and Tuesday morning raised water levels into the streets in many areas. Much of the west parking lot at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex was flooded Tuesday during this week's All-American Dairy Show, and Rt. 322 was closed at Hinkletown because of flooding.

Conestoga River meets the top of the bridge on Rt. 322 in Hinkletown Tuesday afternoon. Traffic was closed westbound at the Martindale Road intersection.

Flood waters look almost scenic at the Conestoga River near Farmersville Tuesday afternoon.

All-American Names Junior Dairy Show Winners

Myers Family Youth Lead Top Cows In First Red And White Show

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Three judges had a full day of work judging seven breeds of dairy cattle exhibited by youth from all over the state during the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show at the All-American.

For the first time ever, the All-American included its own separate shows for the Red and White breed, including one at the Junior Dairy Show on Monday.

Sisters Brittany and Mylie Myers of Shirleysburg, Huntingdon County, went home with grand champion and reserve honors, respectively, in the Red and White show.

Brittany, 17, and Mylie, 10, are members of the Shirley Variety Pak 4-H Club. Their parents are Deb and Doug Myers of Myers Family Dairy, Inc.

Four-year-old Myerose Fantast Mystic Red was the grand champion Red and White, led by Brittany Myers.

Andy Stoner of Waynesboro, Franklin County, exhibited the grand champion Holstein, 4-year-old Bell-Stone Jubal Penny-TW.

In the Ayrshire show, Shanda Pheasant of Williamsburg, Blair County, led 4-year-old Plum-Bottom Hope Verna to the grand champion spot.

The Brown Swiss grand champion was 4-year-old Meadow Hill Sensation Alex, shown by Anthony Mase of Cochranton, Crawford County.

Kendy Gable of New Enterprise, Bedford County, showed the top Guernsey, 4-year-old Sniders Perfect Brenden.

In the Jersey show, Autumn Reichard of Chambersburg, Franklin County, exhibited grand champion Reich-Dale GC Sequence-ET, a junior 2-year-old.

Dylan Pheasant of Williamsburg led Tudor Hall Forty-niner Rosy, a junior-2-year-old to the grand champion spot in the Milking Shorthorn show.

Judges for the show were David Jones of Yale, Okla., for the Ayrshires, Milking Shorthorns, and Jerseys; Jeff Ziegler of Plain City, Ohio, for the Red and Whites, Brown Swiss, and Guernseys; and Brian Behnke of Brooklyn, Wis., Holsteins.

Results of the show are scheduled in an upcoming issue of Lancaster Farming.

Andy Stoner shows the grand champion Holstein. Joining him is judge Brian Behnke.

Jersey champion exhibitors are Autumn Reichard, grand champion, and Adam Stambaugh, reserve.

Champions Named In Colored Breed Shows At 40th All-American

CHARLENE M. SHUPP
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Large Arena and Equine Arena were full of activity on Wednesday as the color breed competitions continued in the Farm Show Complex for All-American.

During the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show, judge Steve Tuman gave the nod to Old Mill Snickerdoodle, owned by Allen Jr. and Amanda Bassler of Upperville, Va., as the grand champion Brown Swiss. Reserve grand champion was Brook Run Jetway Fern, owned by Cynthia and Reese Warner Sr. of Frederick, Md. The pair was also selected senior champions.

Hushon brothers of Airville returned to the winner's circle this year, capturing intermediate champion honors. Josh Hushon's winning junior 3-year-old, Brothers Three Milenium Nut, was named intermediate champion. The second place junior 3-year-old, Brothers Three Wisper OCS, exhibited by Jacob Hushon, was selected reserve.

Junior champion was Hoodstead Jetway Nabisco-ET, owned by K. Scott Hood of Middletown, Md. Savage-Leigh Be A Tippy-ET, owned by Jarrett Remsberg of Middletown, Md. was selected reserve.

In the youth show, there was a familiar sight in the winner circle. This year's youth grand and intermediate champion was Brothers Three Wisper OCS, owned by Jacob Hushon of Airville, York County. This is Wisper's second year to claim these titles. The reserve youth grand champion award was given to the senior champion Winner, Meadow Hill Jade Aubrie-ET shown by Anthony Mase of Cochranton.

Reserve intermediate champion was Ash-Mar Banker Bailey exhibited by Ashley Taylor of Worton, Md. Reserve senior champion was Stone Fence Emorys Lilac, exhibited by Lisa Jones, Airville.

Youth junior champion was Savage-Leigh Be A Tippy-ET, owned by Jarret Remsberg of Middletown, Md. Claiming the reserve junior champion was the winning spring calf, Dublin Hills Misa-ET, owned by William Holtz, Hustisford, Wis.

Completing the color breed competition in the Large Arena was the National Guernsey Show. Walking away with the grand champion banner was Jeremy Schnebly's winning senior champion, Crown Stone Jason Helga of Clear Spring, Md. The reserve grand champion banner went to R way Royal Oak Faye from Millborne Farms of Granby, Conn.

Reserve senior champion Guernsey was O Clayton Smith's 100,000-pound class winner, OCS Dairy Queenie from Jefferson, Md.

The intermediate champion Guernsey was R way Royal Oak Faye from Millborne Farms of Granby, Conn. and the reserve intermediate champion was Kendy Gable's junior 3-year-old, Sniders Lorry Hudson from New Enterprise.

Junior champion for both the open and youth show was Sniders Mr. Luck Georgies Gal-Twin. This winning fall yearling was exhibited by Kendy Gable, New Enterprise. Reserve junior champion was Sniders Goldust Palmer, owned by Scott and Elsie Wolff, Quar-

NET MERIT INDEX CHANGES

Philip E. Wagner
Extension Agent — Dairy
Franklin County

Net Merit indexes for AI bulls in the August 2003 sire summary include three new traits and are based on different weights than the previous version of Net Merit. The three new traits are daughter pregnancy rate (DPR), service sire calving ease (SCE), and daughter calving ease (DCE).

DPR receives a relative weight of 7 percent in Net Merit, and SCE and DCE each receive minus 2 percent of total emphasis. This emphasis has to come from other traits already in the index, meaning that something else loses ground. The traits with less emphasis were production traits and productive life (PL), where total weight for milk, fat, and protein declined from 62 percent to 55 percent impact on Net Merit. Yield will still improve, but a little less rapidly than with the old index.

The decline in emphasis for PL was from 14 to 11 percent, but genetic progress in PL should actually increase because selection for more fertile daughters (from positive weight on DPR) and for less calving difficulty (from negative weight on SCE and DCE) will increase longevity.

Over a 10-year period, selection on Net Merit would decrease SCS by -.44, changing the breed average SCS for Holsteins from 3.10 to 2.66. That's an impressive change, but it would be gradual enough that many dairy producers might notice fewer cases of mastitis and less culling or death loss from severe mastitis. Ten year's selection for better fertility through Net Merit would improve DPR by about 1 percent (from about 20 percent pregnancy rate to 21 percent for an average Holstein cow).

Philip E. Wagner

DPR will change more slowly than some other traits because of low heritability, but perhaps more importantly because of a genetic antagonism with milk production. Genes for higher milk tend to be associated with genes for lower fertility. However, fertility will improve over time with the new index, whereas selection on any of those indexes that emphasize production and ignore fertility can't make that claim. The changes in Net Merit make it even more clearly the "index of choice" for commercial milk producers in the U.S.

Editor's note: This article was written by Dr. Bennet Cassell, extension dairy scientist, genetics and management, Virginia Tech. It appeared in the August issue of "Dairy Pipeline."

Patrick Family Shows Ayrshire Champion, Honored For 40 Years In The Ring

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Tuesday was a big day for the David Patrick family of Maple Dell Farms.

The Ayrshire breeders from Woodbine, Md., not only won the grand champion banner in the Mid-Atlantic National Ayrshire Show, the family also received a milk can handpainted with a scene from their farm.

The gift, presented by the All-American Dairy Show committee, was in honor of the Patricks exhibiting Ayrshires at the All-American ever since the show began 40 years ago.

Maple Dell Trident Song, a 4-year-old cow exhibited by the Patricks, was named grand champion of the show.

The Shank and Creek families of Palmyra Farm Ayrshires, Hagerstown, Md., also received a painted milk can for their longtime devotion to the All-American. According to Ralph Shank Jr., the 40-year family tradition of showing Ayrshires here began with his father Ralph W. Shank, and continues with Ralph Jr., his wife Mary Shank Creek, and other members of the Creek family.

Doug Evans of Sunny Acres Farm, Georgetown, N.Y., showed the reserve grand champion.

Junior champion was an intermediate calf owned by Jamie Place of Lincolnshire Farms, Ontario, Canada.

Craig and Bonnie Hawksley of West Kingston, R.I. had the reserve junior champion, a senior yearling heifer.

Curtis Day judged the show.

The Shank and Creek families of Palmyra Farm Ayrshires, Hagerstown, Md., receive a painted milk can for their dedication to the All-American for 40 years. Pictured here, from left, are Amanda Brant, Pennsylvania Guernsey Princess; Michael Pechart, executive assistant to the Pennsylvania ag secretary; Charlie Itle, All-American Dairy Show manager; Pam Werley, Pennsylvania alternate dairy princess; the Shank and Creek families; Carla Martin, Pennsylvania dairy princess; and Obie Snider, All-American board of directors president.

Shultz Brothers Holstein 'Celebration Sale' Oct. 3

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

JERSEYTOWN (Columbia Co.) — To dairy farmers looking for registered Holsteins in Pennsylvania since the late 1960s, the name Shultz probably rings a bell.

In the past 35 years, the partnership of brothers Leo, Clark, and Paul Shultz had sold 693 head of Holsteins for dairy purposes, offering the animals at various consignment auctions and selling them directly off the farm.

The Shultz partnership dates to 1953, when they began dairying together on the home farm. In 1962, they built a 60-stall dairy barn with the goal of keep the herd size within its limits.

"We figured if couldn't make it with 60 (cows), we'd try something else," said Paul Shultz. That commitment to keeping the herd size down has allowed the brothers to sell a lot of animal over the years.

At 76, Paul is the youngest of the three brothers. Clark is 79. Leo Shultz passed away two years ago.

The Shultzes have always paid attention to good genetics and herd health. They used AI from the start, have maintained a closed herd since 1962, and are certified Johnes-free, according to Paul.

On Friday, Oct. 3, the entire herd of 140-150 registered Holsteins, including young stock, will be put on auction at the Shultz farm near Jerseytown. The sale will be conducted jointly by Stonehurst Farms, Strasburg, and the Cattle Exchange of Delhi, N.Y.

Don Welk of Stonehurst Farms said he visited the Shultzes earlier this summer to look at several heifers the Shultzes were looking to sell. While he was there, Welk suggested the possibility of dispersing the whole herd and making it a "celebration sale."

The Shultzes have made a tremendous contribution to the dairy industry, said Welk, noting the nearly 700 head of registered Holsteins they have sold over the years.

The Shultz farm is located alng Rt 254, about one and a half miles west of Jerseytown. The auction begins at 11 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 3.

Potential buyers and other interested people are also invited to an open house at the Shultz farm on the evening of Oct. 2.

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Sheep shows vary in rules and divisions from place to place. At West Lampeter Community Fair, separate competitions for market lambs are conducted for 4-H and FFA members.

On Wednesday, Loren Hershey experienced sweet success with his breeding program by showing the FFA grand champion market lamb.

"It's homebred, so it's very rewarding," Loren said. The son of Les and Lois Hershey, Kirkwood, has been improving his flock by breeding for genetics for several years. This was the first time he achieved his goal.

Loren said that William Fuller, a Little Britain farmer, gave the breeding program a boast. Two years, Fuller brought Loren's lamb at the fair sale, and donated it back to Loren. That sheep birthed this year's prize winning market lamb.

Called "Chance," the lamb had a "chancy"start. It was born with a broken leg and needed to have its leg in a splint and be bottle fed for one month.

"I could tell from the beginning, that it had a really long body — so I k it was good," Loren said.

A senior and FFA member at LMH, recently place first in state competition for Farm Business Management. He will represent the state at the upcoming National FFA Association.

Loren said this is probably his last year showing sheep.

"I'll pass mine on to my 10-year-old brother Luke," Loren said. His flock includes four ewes and eight rams.

In 4-H competition, Tiffany Dean topped the show with her homebred lamb Buddy. It's brother won at Solanco Fair last week.

A consistent winner, Tiffany said, "Now, I'm finished until (state) Farm Show.

Kelsey Binkley was selected first in showmanship.

Here is a partial listing of results.

In 4-H competition, Tiffany Dean shows the champion market lamb. With her are John Eaton, judge, and Ashleigh Gardner, fair queen.

Loren Hershey shows the FFA champion market lamb selected by John Eaton. West Lampeter Fair Queen Ashleigh Gardner presents the award.

Farm Show Manager Appointed

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Dennis C. Wolff announced the appointment of James Sharp as the administrator for the show management division of the State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

As the show management division administrator, Sharp will oversee the details of the All-American Dairy Show (AADS), the Keystone International Livestock Exposition, and the competitive events at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

As the All-American Youth Judging Contest Superintendent since 1996, Sharp already has an understanding of the workings of AADS. In addition, he has a bachelor's degree in agriculture from Ohio State University. Most recently, he has been the area sales manager of Genex Cooperative, Inc. since 1995.

Lancaster Farming OPINION

"This report demonstrates that Fair Trade businesses — companies that empower economically disadvantaged farmers and artisans, and respect the environment — are growing and thriving. This is in sharp contrast to flagging sales of conventional businesses that operate in a dominant global trade model that forces wages downward, degrades the environment, disrupts communities, and destroys cultural values," said Chris O'Brien, associate director of the Fair Trade Federation and managing director of the Co-op America Business Network.

Are people suspicious about Big Business? Some could be.

"Fair Trade is clearly poised for continued growth in handcrafts and commodities. It also has a clear impact on growing consumer awareness of global trade issues," according to Katherine Anderson, information coordinator, International Federation for Alternative Trade.

Key findings:

Total fair trade sales in the U.S., Canada, and Pacific Rim increased 37 percent during 2002, from $183 million to $251 million. North America accounted for $180 million, up 44 percent (emphasis ours) from 2001, while the Pacific Rim topped $70 million, a growth rate of 23%.

Certified Fair Trade coffee demonstrated the greatest growth of any single Fair Trade product, with sales increasing by 54 percent, from 6.8 million pounds in 2001 to 10.6 million pounds in 2002. (So not only are we working harder and longer, but are we apparently need the stimulants to keep us awake.)

At the beginning of 2003, according to the report, there were more than 3,200 people employed by Fair Trade organizations in the U.S., Canada, and the Pacific Rim.

Coffee, crafts, clothing, housewares, and a wide variety of other products made by workers in developing countries compose the range of Fair Trade products and companies, which are screened to ensure fair wages, cooperative workplaces, consumer education, environmental sustainability, financial and technical support, respect for cultural identity, and public accountability.

By adhering to social criteria and environmental principles, Fair Trade organizations foster a more equitable and sustainable system of production and trade that benefits people and their communities.

Isabel Doesn't Hamper Solanco Fair Youth Livestock Sale

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Despite strong winds and heavy rains from Hurricane Isabel the night before, the Solanco Fair Youth Livestock Sale continued on late last week.

Though wind knocked tents down and attendance was down for the final night of the fair, hundreds attended the livestock auction, where 115 bidders were registered.

Following is photo coverage of the event, which includes the prices paid for livestock exhibited and the buyers.

All photos by Andy Andrews, editor

Nichol Awarded 2003 All-American Dairy Show Pioneer Award

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The All-American Dairy Show has awarded William Nichol of State College the 2003 All-American Pioneer Award in recognition of his years of dedication and service to the show.

In the early 1960s Nichol, along with the late Cuthbert Nairn Sr. and other dairy enthusiasts, had a dream to institute a national dairy show in Pennsylvania in order to invite the nation and other areas to bring their cattle to Harrisburg to compete with the quality cattle bred in this state. In 1964, the first Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show was conducted in the Farm Show Complex.

Nichol, along with other breed representatives and agribusiness personnel, had been working approximately seven to eight years making necessary arrangements to institute this national show in Pennsylvania. Nichol helped to raise money from sponsors and supporters. He was a member of the first All-American Board of Directors as the Holstein breed representative. He helped to create the positions with a representative from each of the six dairy breeds along with two from the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries to complete the board.

Nichol was served on the committee establishing the rules and regulations for the All-American Dairy Show and was instrumental in developing the "Herd Unit" option for entering cattle in the show. In 1999, Nichol was influential in obtaining the necessary funds to increase the premiums offered to exhibitors. In 2000, the All-American Dairy show offered the highest premiums paid than any other national dairy show.

Nichol thought the premiums within the class should be uniform and there should be a bottom limit. These high premiums were paid out again at the 2003 All-American Dairy Show. He has been a member of the group responsible for the division of premium increments and has worked to keep the budget balanced.

Also in 2000, he was one of the enthusiasts that encouraged other board and dairy industry persons to change the name of the show by dropping the "Pennsylvania" from the title. He believed that by changing the name to the All-American Dairy Show, it would encourage all participants to feel as though this national show was "their own show." Many others agreed and in 2000, the official name change occurred.

Nichol continues to attend the All-American Dairy Show each year and his enthusiasm for the show never dims.

KILE To Feature Contests

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 26th Annual Keystone Stockman's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE) Show, is scheduled, Monday, Oct. 6. The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members between the ages of 13 and 19. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three or four members. These members will also compete as individuals.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the contest concludes with the naming of the Stockman of the Year at approximately 3:15 p.m. This allows a group to participate in the contest, view the livestock and horse shows in progress, and return home the same day.

About 200 FFA members, 4-H members, and college students will enter the junior and collegiate judging contests at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. This keen educational competition is an excellent way to test live animal knowledge and verbal skills, providing students with valuable experiences for their futures in agriculture. This contest begins at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 4.

The 10th Annual Keystone Arabian Horse Judging Contest will also be conducted. Prizes for this event are provided by KILE. This contest will be Monday, Oct. 6, beginning at 8 a.m.

The Nov. 22 issue of Lancaster Farming's Dairy Plus is scheduled to include the latest quarterly TPI bull proof summaries for the major breeds as a regular part of the book. Also scheduled: sire information from businesses, our first Dairy Plus Out-standing Farm feature, and business and dairy cooperative news highlights.

Hamp/York Crossbreds Shine At Solanco Swine Show

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Tiffany Dean's "blue butt" pigs made a big splash at the Solanco Fair's market swine show last week.

Dean's Hampshire/Yorkshire crossbreds won in the light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions, with the 270-pound heavyweight taking the overall grand champion trophy.

Dean, a junior at Lampeter-Strasburg High School, explained how crossing the Hampshire and Yorkshire breeds results in the bluish coloring, especially in the hind end and face of the animal.

"You combine a black pig and a white pig and you get blue," she said.

Although Dean has shown the blue pigs before, it's the first time they won at the Solanco Fair.

Dean, 17, is the daughter of Gary and Joan Dean of Strasburg.

Nicole Welk, an eight-grader from Quarryville, exhibited the lightweight champion, a 232-pound pig.

Justin Welk's 240-pound hog won the middleweight division. Welk, 10, is the son of Don and Emily Welk, Strasburg.

Judge Bob Miksell praised the winners of the more than 100 swine shown by youth exhibitors.

"These are pigs that are lean, heavily-muscled, structurally correct, and stylish," Miksell said of the four division champs.

Dean's grand champion edged out the other three pigs with its combination of body length, levelness, and being extremely heavily muscled, Miksell said.

The show posted the following results:

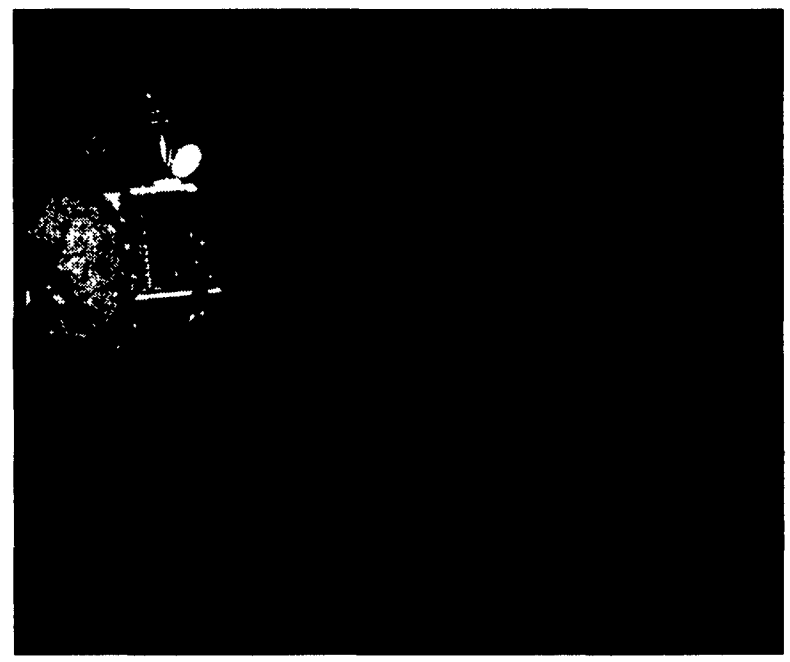
Keefer's Steer Wins At Solanco



Jessica Keefer is at the halter of "Lickoreish," her grand champion steer at the Solanco Fair. Judge Scott Wright is in back.

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Jessica Keefer's 1,263-pound Angus crossbred steer took grand champion honors at the recent Solanco Fair Market Beef Show.

The show took place on the evening of Sept. 18, as Hurricane Isabella was starting to bear down on the area. Scott Wright of the Pennsylvania Beef Council completed the judging as wind howled and rain pelted the roof of the exhibition building.

Grand champion exhibitor Keefer, 11, is a sixth-grader at Swift Middle School. She is a member of the Red Rose 4-H Beef Club and lives on the small farm of her parents Gary and Karen Keefer near Peach Bottom.

Keefer said she named the steer "Lickoreish" by sounding out the letters of the name of the popular black candy.

Fred Linton, Kirkwood, bred the champion steer.

Barabara Pfender of Holtwood showed the reserve champion, a 1,325-pound black steer.

Katrina Frey received the top Angus award from Wakefield Angus for her 1,384-pound heavyweight.

The show posted the following results:

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Jill Harnish's junior 2-year-old cow, Spruce Edge Storm Tansy, took grand champion honors at the recent Solanco Fair Holstein Show.

Harnish also exhibited the reserve grand champion, Spruce Edge Convincer Marylouise. This 3-year-old cow is the daughter of Wa- Del Airliner Mandylouise, an EX-91, 5-year-old who received an honorable mention at the show. Three young bulls from this cow family are soon slated to enter A.I. stud service.

Harnish manages a 60-cow dairy near Christiana in partnership with her parents, Ed and Arlene Harnish. She plans to flush all three of her winning cows for embryos.

Kyle Miller exhibited the junior champion, a spring yearling named Kildairy Acres Robust Reggie.

Miller, 12, is a member the Airville Milk and Money 4-H Club in York County. His parents are Ronald and Kelly Miller.

The Millers raise heifers, and Kyle's grandfather William Kilgore operates Kildairy Acres dairy farm.

Esther Trimble's winter yearling was named reserve junior champion.

Trimble, 13, is the daughter of Marshall and Angie Trimble and is in ninth grade at Lancaster Mennonite High School.

The Trimbles manage a 250-cow dairy farm near Drumore.

Jeremy Daubert of Mount Joy judged the show and called the following results:

PennAg Industries

tries Council, said that PennAg began as the Pennsylvania State Millers Association on Jan. 8, 1878, at the Central Hotel in Sunbury.

What did the association do 125 years ago? According to Sherk, during the first decade of the association, fire insurance for mills was the primary focus. At the 1886 convention, 11 members pledged to buy $5,000 worth of fire insurance and helped start the Pennsylvania Millers' Mutual Insurance Company.

Membership on Jan. 7, 1895 stood at 250 at the time the Pennsylvania Millers State association was incorporated.

Sherk detailed the changes over the years:

• From 1888-1920s, local gristmills began to close down.

Darvin Boyd, retired director of agrifinance for First Union/Wachovia Bank, right, is congratulated for his Distinguished Service Award honor from Robert Gueldner, PennAg Industries president.

• In 1931, the association became the Pennsylvania Milers and Feed Dealers Association (PAMAFDA), as feed dealers became a focus.

• The association hired the first paid executive in 1937 — George A. Stuart.

• In 1950, the association's first full-time employee, Richard Ammon, executive secretary, began work. The same year, PAMAFDA located in Ephrata.

• In 1953, the PAMAFDA Insurance Trust was created.

• From 1959-1969, the title of executive secretary changed to executive vice president. In 1963, members turned down the idea of having to pay, by assessment, for research and promotion of wheat and wheat products.

• In 1968, to include other agribusiness in the association, the name PAMAFDA was changed to PennAg Industries Association.

• From 1982 to 1997, PennAg purchased a headquarters building in Ephrata, bylaws were upgraded, and Walt Peechatka was hired as executive vice president to attract other agribusiness groups to the association.

• From 1998 onward, the association continued to evolve, improving itself by adding the PennAg Poultry Council (when the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation dissolved) and the hiring of an assistant vice president of the council. In 1999, the Pennsylvania Seedmans Association dissolved and became the PennAg Seed Council.

• In 2000, PennAg purchased a new headquarters office in Harrisburg and sold the Ephrata property.

• In 2001, the PennAg Swine Council was created.

• This year, celebrating its 125th anniversary, Sherk noted that PennAg continues to evolve into a "recognized leader in Pennsylvania agriculture." This year, new staff member Chris Herr, former deputy secretary of agriculture, became assistant vice president of the PennAg Poultry Council.

PennAg President is Robert Gueldner, Best Feed and Farm Supplies, Inc., Oakdale.

From 250 members in 1895, the association numbers 650 today.

Walt Peechatka, association executive vice president, presented two Distinguished Service awards to outstanding leaders in Pennsylvania agribusiness at the banquet Monday evening.

The first award went to a man known, according to Peechatka, as "lieutenant, rep, whip, majority leader, and secretary." Peechatka was referring to the former state ag secretary, Sam Hayes Jr.

"Pennsylvania never had a stronger advocate than Sam Hayes," said Peechatka.

In accepting the award, Hayes noted, "Our republic depends upon agriculture every day and into the future. Anytime you sound the bugle, I will be proud to stand with you, your enterprise, and your community."

The second Distinguished Service Award was presented to, Peechatka said (quoting a headline from a newspaper): "A man farmers could bank on."

Peechatka presented the award to Darvin Boyd, retired senior vice president and director of the Agriculture Finance Team at First Union Bank (now Wachovia).

Peechatka noted Boyd built the department from a one-person unit with $13 million in loans outstanding to a 20-person staff with more than half a billion dollars in loans outstanding.

Boyd noted that those in agriculture should be mindful of the "forces confronting the progress of agriculture." He spoke about his passions for agrifinance and for customers.

Boyd said, "Anybody can take care of you when you are doing well, but who is there when the times are tough?"

Boyd thanked those he worked with, the "relationship managers and credit officers," the board members, and customers. He also thanked his wife Linda, daughter Cindy, and son Brian, and spoke, holding back the tears, about his son Kevin, who passed away a few years ago.

Boyd said, "Kevin is with his heavenly father, but he's with me, too, so I want to thank him."

Fences" classes, which will be conducted in the Quarter and Appaloosa Breeds on Saturday night. This special feature will be conducted in the Large Arena starting at 7 p.m.

Highlights of the weeklong festivities include five cattle breed sales — Hereford, Simmental, Shorthorn, Limousin, and Angus. People in the market to purchase high quality sheep will find seven different breeds offered at the KILE Ewe Sale on Saturday, Oct. 4. The Keystone Lead Line will be Saturday, Oct. 4, at noon. This classy display of sheep and their owners, outfitted in wool clothing, is a real eye-appealing event for the audience.

"Standing room only" describes the audience appeal of the nationally acclaimed All Breeds Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch Show. This demonstration of brute horsepower is a favorite of the regulars when 25 teams from across North America compete for eligibility for the national contest. The competition starts promptly at 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 3. Don't miss this event! There is a $5 admission fee.

Children will have special opportunities all week. They can visit the KILE barnyard exhibit to see examples of several species and breeds and learn about each kind of animal. The barnyard is open daily. On Saturday, Oct. 4, the Agri-Kid Olympics start at noon, followed by the Pedal Power Pull for kids aged 3-8. Participation is open to everyone. See the display in the Northeast Hall to find out how to enter.

There are seven fun filled days, so check out the schedule.

Gerhart, Zimmermans, Donoughs Clinch Championship Lamb Titles At Ephrata

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Ephrata Fair competition on Wednesday included 92 head of breeding, market, and nonsale lambs. Taking grand championships were some of the same names that have been winning at the annual event for the past several years — Gerhart, Zimmerman, and Donough.

Taking market lamb honors was Andrew Gerhart. Jimmy Zimmerman took the reserve title for market lamb, and the grand champion title for his Southdown ram, which was named supreme over all breeds.

"It's clean-cut, showy, and eye appealing," Crone said of the ram.

"DON'T JUMP THE GUN"

With all the planning, money, and labor that's gone into your silage crop, DON'T GET ANXIOUS AND CUT IT TOO EARLY!

You planted corn for silage because of the high nutrient yield per acre, and this is another year when you want to get the highest yield possible.

Immature corn produces a lot of soggy, sour silage that's low in feed value. You may get a lot of weight with this green silage, but you will be limiting the total feed value available from your corn acreage.

Forages stored much above 65% moisture will weep, causing loss of nutrients and damage to the silo, unloader, and feeding equipment. Feeds containing more than 70% moisture provide an excellent environment for harmful bacteria growth and production of undesirable acids, resulting in lowered palatability. As your silage approaches 80% moisture, the total weight in your silo nearly doubles.

There are now hundreds of silos in the Mid-Atlantic area that are over 80' tall, with many 100', 120', and up to 148'. These farmers need to plant corn varieties with at least 3-4 maturity dates in order to have silage ready for the bottom third of their silos when harvest begins. The moisture content of this bottom section of the silo should be about 55%. The middle third should be about 60%, with the top third about 65%-67%.

It can be very easy to cut your feed too early if you are accustomed to begin harvesting according to the calendar. With the wet spring we had in many areas, the corn crop will be spread out considerably concerning maturity and moisture content.

Check your corn crop closely to be sure that it is indeed ready to harvest. As your corn matures, it increases in total dry weight and most of this increase is in the ear, the very heart of your silage.

When you are storing from 1,000 to 4,000 tons of silage (or more) in one tower silo, it is critical that you manage your silage crop to prevent excessive moisture in the silo.

KILE Announces 2003 Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) is in its 47th year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, Sept. 30-Oct. 6.

This year has been designated as "Year of the Beef," so beef cattle exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the cattle industry. Ten breeds will be shown. They are Angus, Limousin, Hereford, Shorthorn, Simmental, Red Angus, American British White Park, Texas Longhorn, Highland, and Maine-Anjou.

Nine breeds of horses will be shown. They are Haflinger, Appaloosa, Belgian, Clydesdale, Shire, Percheron, Paso Fino, Quarter Horse, and Arabian. Classes include halter, driving, hitches, and riding. The Draft Horse Show is a qualifying show in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, with approximately twenty-six of the top rated Six Horse Hitches trying to qualify for next year's National Competition. The "All Breeds Classic Series Six Horse Hitch Show" will be conducted as the Friday evening arena performance at the Exposition.

In the beef area, KILE has been designated as a Simmental "Progress Through Performance" Show as well as the Eastern National Hereford Classic Show. The Limousin Cattle Show has also again been designated a "Medal of Excellence" Show.

Swine will be represented by eight different purebred breeds being shown, plus the open and Junior Barrow Shows. The National Junior Swine Association Eastern Regional Show and Skillathon will be back again this year.

Starting on Thursday, at noon, will be the Stockmen's Trade Show. Everything from T-shirts and jewelry to saddles and horse trailers will be available to purchase from the vendor booths at the show.

A hundred collegiate, FFA, and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE. These keen educational competitions are excellent tests of knowledge and skill, providing students with valuable experience for their futures in agriculture.

More than 4,800 entries are expected for the 2003 show, which offers a record $200,000 in premiums.

A tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups will be available and the Kessler's Barnyard Baby Exhibit where young and old alike may touch and pet the animals is always a favorite spot at the show.

• Tuesday, Sept. 30 — The show officially opens with a Haflinger Show at 8 a.m.

• Wednesday, Oct. 1 — Show opens at 7 a.m. with the Shire, Percheron, plus a draft horse hitch show in the evening.

• Thursday, Oct. 2 — The Belgian and Clydesdale Show will begin at 7 a.m. Draft Horse Hitch Shows will be featured at 6:30 p.m. The Opening Ceremony will be at 4 p.m. with the Livestock Person of the Year and Outstanding FFA and 4-H Livestock members being recognized. Breeding sheep and swine judging will begin at 5 p.m.

• Friday, Oct. 3 — Stockman's Day — The Draft Horse Youth Show will take place in the large arena starting at 9 a.m. Also, at 9 a.m. begins the judging of breeding swine, sheep, and cattle. Hereford and Simmental Breeding Cattle Sales will be in the Sale Arena at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., respectively. At 6 p.m., the Keystone Classic Swine Sale will take place, which will feature eight breeds of swine. The Heavy Hitch Show begins at 6 p.m. The breeds featured are Belgian, Clydesdale, Shire, and Percheron with their 6-Horse Competition. Also included will be Draft Horse Hitch Classes. There will be a $5 charge for the evening performance.

• Saturday, Oct. 4 — Kid's Day at the Exposition. The Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Contest is at 8 a.m. Judging also begins at 8 a.m. for the Sheep Show. A special attraction at noon is the Keystone Lead Line, an attractive combination, as sheep and shepherd are dressed in their finest. Also at noon, Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank is sponsoring Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be for children at 3 p.m. with the Kids Pedal Power Pull. At 8 a.m. the Paso Fino Horse Show is featured. The yearling Bred Ewe Sale begins at 3 p.m. Shorthorn, Limousin, and Angus Breeding Cattle sales will be in the Sale Arena at 10 a.m., noon, and 2 p.m., respectively. On Saturday evening, at 6 p.m., the Club Calf Sale will be conducted.

Saturday evening will feature the Appaloosa and Quarter Horse jumping and group classes.

• Sunday, Oct. 5 — At 8 a.m. a family sunrise church service will be conducted. Junior beef breeding cattle and sheep judging begins at 8 a.m. Also at 8 a.m. is the barrow on-foot show and the Appalossa, and Quarter Horse shows. At noon is the Junior Steer Show. A busy day at the Expo continues with lambs, sheep, and hog judging throughout the rest of the day.

• Monday, Oct. 6 — As KILE enters its last day, there is still a busy schedule. The Arabian Horse Show will begin at 8 a.m. and the cattle and sheep judging continues in the respective show rings. The Keystone Stockman's Contest Awards Program is scheduled for 3:15 p.m.

grand champion breeding sheep — a Horned Dorset, which was named reserve supreme champion. She also was named champion showman over all categories.

Siblings Joelynn and Ryan Donough took nonsale champion and reserve spots respectively. Joelynn also showed an Oxford that was named reserve champion ewe over all breeds.

Rod Crone, judge for the event, explained his decisions to exhibitors and gave pointers and demonstrations on how to show off sheep to the best advantage.

Crone said that Gerhart's market lamb had a beautiful profile, muscular topline, and holds everything together through the hips.

Gerhart, son of Glen and Cathy Gerhart, said his market champion is a bred and owned crossbred from his Reinholds flock of 45-50.

The Zimmermans have 65-75 Southdowns and 12 Horned Dorsets on the family's Reinholds farm, owned by parents Jay and Joann Zimmerman. This was Jen's last year of showing sheep, and the first time her brother showed the supreme breeding sheep over her.

"I'm happy," the 21-year-old Jen said. "To have a Horned Dorset named supreme champion ewe over all breeds is a statement in itself."

Jimmy said his supreme ram is named Stroll, because its rope became entangled in a stroller when he transported him home in a station wagon.

Stroll has some astounding blood relatives. His brother recently brought $8,000 at the Reno sale.

"We're hoping Stroll will do a lot of good for the flock," Jimmy's mom said.

In an about turn from the Denver Fair, Joelynn's nonsale lamb was named grand champion, and her brother Ryan's lamb was named reserve. Parents of the siblings are Ed and LaRue Donough, Manheim.

"There is not a bad one here. These lambs could stand against almost any place you go," Crone told the exhibitors.

For Super Quality Forage Next Spring Plant

Dandie says...

High Energy Double Crops

Seed in September for Best Results

MARSHALL Annual Ryegrass

Marshall has consistently been at or near the top for first cut yields in western Maryland trials and in our own test field this spring. It is a diploid variety with excellent winter hardiness. Best fits in double crop program followed by corn.

ZORRO Italian Ryegrass

Zorro best fits for grazing and multiple harvest cropping programs with sorghum sudan as the following crop. It is better than Marshall for no-tilling into thin alfalfa, and has better forage quality than Marshall. We were pleased with the good reports we got on Zorro this spring, even though Zorro, along with most annual and Italian ryegrasses planted late had some winter injury. Some early planted Zorro (that wasn't harvested due to wet fields) had injury because of excessive growth going into winter. In most cases it grew back very well.

PERUN Festulolium

A 3 year High Energy Grass- Perun Festulolium is a very impressive 3 year crop, perfect for short rotations and extending the stand life of newly planted, slightly thinning alfafa stands. The quality and yield of Perun has been quite impressive. Perun is similar to Italian ryegrass in quality, but less heady in the summer (still has some heads). Winterhardiness is excellent. We did not see any winter damage in early spring. Perun has been the highest yielder in our plots. In New York, Perun was entered in the 2001 planting of Cornell University ryegrass trial, and it yielded over 6.85 tons of dry matter in 2002. This was 21% higher than the top perennial ryegrass.

Note: Ryegrasses and festuloliums are slower to dry than most grasses. They are best used for balage and grazing.

These High Energy Forages can be No-Tilled into Alfalfa

Lancaster County Dairy Princess Carla Martin Rises To Cream Of The Crop

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — A funny thing happened at Pennsylvania's Dairy Princess Pageant last Saturday evening.

On stage, starry-eyed dairy princesses representing 30 different counties sparkled in evening gown finery, but when Carla Martin presented her award-winning speech, the aura of glitz burst.

Her words transported the audience to Carla's Lancaster County dairy farm, and reminded the crowd that this contestant's deepest passion was for the farm and not the pursuit of a tiara with fake diamonds.

Carla said, "I pushed open the door and stared into the dim light of the early morning as I pulled a warm flannel shirt over my shoulders. I headed outside to begin the farm chores.

"The cool fresh air of autumn felt wonderful to my face and quickly drove the sleepy feeling away.

"I listened to the silence and watched the breath of the cows as they contentedly chewed their cud. I looked up to see the stars patiently awaiting their dismissal by the sun. And, then I thanked God as I had so many times before that I was able to grow up in such a wonderful place."

Carla continued her talk on "A Legacy That Lasts," which she also referred to as a legacy of truth about the benefits of a dairy-rich diet.

Carla Martin reigns as Pennsylvania Dairy Princess.

Raechel Kilgore makes her final appearance as state dairy princess on the arm of her dad Douglas Kilgore.

Before the evening ended, Carla was crowned Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. Pam Werley representing Berks County became first alternate, and Emily Grove of Franklin County, second alternate.

The coronation climaxed a rigorous two days of judging at the Radisson Hotel and Convention Center, Camp Hill, where each princess had been individually interviewed, delivered a prepared speech and skit presentation, handed in a scrapbook reviewing dairy promotional efforts, and been scrutinized for on-stage and off-stage presence.

From the preliminary judging, the winners of speech, presentations, and scrapbook competitions were named. The top two speeches and presentations were performed for the audience.

In addition to Carla presenting her speech, Carissa Ebersole, Bedford, spoke on Food for a Lifetime, and of her concerns that children are not consuming enough of calcium in their diets.

Pam Werley, Berks County, portrayed Captain Calcium coming to the rescue to solve the calcium crisis. Emily Sue Grove, Franklin County, portrayed a milk bottle — the total package. She introducing her siblings "Brother Cheese" and "Sister Yogurt" who sport tattoos — the Real Seal and the 3-A-Day logo.

Judges and board members of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services Inc. (PDPPS) expressed several times that the entire group of 30 princesses was extraordinary. From the group, seven finalists were chosen. These included, in no particular order, the following: Megan DeHart, Butler; Charann Foster, Huntingdon; Pam Werley, Berks; Holly Liggett, Lawrence; Carla Martin, Lancaster; Ashley Bird, Centre; and Emily Grove; Franklin.

Jessica Landis wins the Tina M. Schultz Memorial Award for her outstanding promotions in Somerset County.

On stage, each of the seven finalists answered the impromptu question: "What is your greatest accomplishment to this point in your life and why?"

Megan, 17-year-old daughter of William and Bonnie DeHart of Evans City, said that her dream has always been to become a dairy princess, and since achieving the position she loves it.

Charann, 18-year-old daughter of John Jr. and Alice Foster of Petersburg, said that being able to come to the state pageant to

On Being a Farm Wife
(and other hazards)

Gusting winds.

Trees bending low, cowering from angry gray clouds thundering overhead. Rain beating down, blowing almost parallel at times.

A mad dash to yellow school buses, creaking to a stop inside the inner playground area of our elementary school. Teachers, strained looks on their faces, bidding students farewell at the interruption of a fall season school day.

Hurricane.

Hazel was her name, a destructively-nasty storm which plastered damage across the area in the 1950s. This was in pre-politically-correct times, when hurricanes were matter-of-factly and stereotypically dubbed with female names. Didn't matter what her name was, Hazel battered us rather memorably as I recall, including some excused school days.

Kids don't understand property damage, job losses or threat to life and limb as readily as they understand days off from school. So my brothers and I thought hurricanes, like Hazel, were more diversionary entertainment and unexpected vacation from school than they were economically destructive. Several other hurricanes of significance rolled through that era of time over a couple of years, though Hazel sticks with me more than the rest, for some reason.

Maybe it was the big trees she knocked down in the woods behind our house, our childhood playground, which further cemented Hazel's visit in my mind. After I contracted a major red, rashy, and terribly itchy case of poison from playing in one of them, Hazel's aftermath held less appeal, at least until all the residual poison leaves dried up.

Our early parenting years brought the way-more destructive Agnes, which parked over Pennsylvania for some three days, crying the blues — 15-plus inches worth — the whole time she hung around. With a three-year-old and a three-month-old baby, Agnes pretty much confined this mom to the house for her duration.

Power remained on for us through Agnes' stay, though The Farmer's grandparents, who lived just a short distance away, were plunged into darkness during that stretch of mid-June storminess. One pleasant memory of Agnes' stay was sharing a hot lunch with them one day, three generations of us, snug in our cozy kitchen, while the rain and wind beat against the windows.

When Agnes finally lumbered off, we had springs and streams running from the backyard, where no streams have gurgled before or since. Still, we were lucky to have known Agnes and been left with no more than a littered and soggy back yard. Towns, farms, businesses across the region lay flooded, damaged, destroyed, and, even worse, lives were lost.

Now, like birdwatchers recording sighted species, we can add Isabel to our "life list" of significant weather events. Downgraded to a tropical storm one by the time she hit the Mason-Dixon line, Isabel mustered enough of a parting punch to leave us powerless, thankful for Uncle Earl the master electrician and his ways with cranky milking system generators, and added fodder for our downed-tree firewood stack and kindling collection.

While we were spared any major destruction, Isabel did manage to pick up one of the calf condos about a foot into the air and sit it back down on cement blocks parked there to help anchor down a tarp strung across the front as a calf rain-guard. She also peeled away a single piece of barn roofing, which we have as of last weekend's writing, still been unable to locate. And, a piece of maple tree limb Isabel plunked onto the hood of the battered old farm pickup added yet another "character line" to its crinkled countenance.

Given the goofy weather of the last 10 months — early, early winter, plentiful snow, cold, late spring, wet summer, soggy hay, fungus-laden wheat crop, etc., etc. — we had long speculated that this would be the year.

This would be the year, with a tall, beautiful corn crop nearly ready for harvest, orchard trees laden with fruit, soybean fields thick with podded stalks, we would also have a significant hurricane.

Some things, you'd be just as happy not being right about.

Gardeners Plan Composting Workshops

SPRINGFIELD (Delaware Co.) — Delaware County Master Gardeners of the Penn State Cooperative Extension are planning Composting Workshops in September and October.

Composting is an important part of home gardening. When the gardener recycles home waste materials, such as vegetable peelings, grass clippings, leaves and even shredded newspapers, he creates rich, organic nutrients that will greatly enrich the garden soil.

The Workshops will be conducted at the 4-H Farm and Educational Center, Garrett Williamson Foundation, 395 Bishop Hollow Rd., Newtown Square. They are scheduled for four consecutive Saturdays — Sept. 27, Oct. 4, 11 and 18. The sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m. and last about an hour.

Preregistration and a fee of $5 are required for attendance. Space is limited so register early. Checks should be made payable to DCCE, and sent to Delaware County Cooperative Extension, 20 Paper Mill Rd., Springfield, PA 19-64. For further information please call (610) 690-2655.

Consuming Thoughts

Do you use your microwave to cook vegetables? If not, start microwaving veggies because it keeps a lot more vitamins and minerals in the vegetables than do other methods of cooking. Here are some ideas to help with microwaving vegetables.

When preparing fresh vegetables you will want to cut vegetables into pieces which are all about the same size. Do not add salt before cooking (this toughens vegetables). Arrange the thicker parts of the vegetable toward the outside of dish. Add 2 to 4 tablespoons of water and cover loosely with wax paper or a glass lid.

To microwave vegetables cook on high unless in a sauce. Cook vegetables in a sauce on medium setting. Serving vegetables will continue to cook a little after being removed from the microwave. Let them stand for 2 to 3 minutes before serving. Keep vegetables covered until ready to serve. Remove cover carefully so that the steam is released away from you and others.

To prepare potatoes, sweet potatoes or winter squash wash or scrub well in clean water. Poke 3 to 4 holes in the skins with a fork. These holes allow steam to escape during cooking. Microwave on a white paper towel. Arrange them in a circle 1-inch apart. Microwave for 6 to 15 minutes. Turn potatoes over halfway through cooking time. Wrap potatoes in foil or a clean towel after they come out of the microwave to keep them hot until serving.

Have you ever wondered what kinds of cookware and wraps should be used in the microwave. The following check list will answer your questions.

Safe To Use In Microwave Oven

- Glass and glass ceramic cookware.
- Containers or products that have microwave approval (they are able to stand high temperatures).
- Waxed paper.
- Paper towels. White towels are best.
- Heavy duty plastic wrap can be used to cover a container. Do not put plastic wrap directly on the food.
- Oven cooking bags. These are safe for use in the microwave.
- Special browning or crisping devices. Carefully follow package directions. Never try to re-use these devices.

Unsafe Cookware For A Microwave Oven

- Do not use cold storage containers such as margarine tubs, whipped topping bowls, or cottage cheese containers. They have not been approved for microwaving. High heat may cause harmful chemicals to get into food.
- Do not use brown grocery bags or newspapers. These contain metals which could start a fire. Stop cooking if a fire starts in your microwave. Do not open the door. The fire should go out by itself.
- Do not use light weight plastic wrap.
- Do not eat from a package that becomes burnt in cooking.
- Do not re-use trays and containers provided with microwaveable products. It is okay to do this if the package says the container is reusable. A microwave cake pan is an example of a reusable container.

Where has the summer gone? The end of September is here and so is cooler weather. The other week we went to a chicken barbecue in rainy weather. We had to park quite a distance from the tent where the meal was served.

The first thing that happened was that one of our umbrellas turned inside out. Then I think that mine leaked as my hair got very wet. We were crowded at long tables to eat our big meal. There also was a very long line for people to get a take-out meal. One almost wishes that we had stayed home and ate hot dogs and baked beans.

Our township has decided to publish a big hardback book on the history of Manheim Township. This is in celebration of 275 years. Lancaster County was first established in 1729. This was about the time that my ancestors came from Switzerland and Germany to Pennsylvania.

The 264-page book contains many pictures of early schools, homes, trolleys, toll houses, and mills. I was able to contribute some pictures as my mother took a lot of photos around 1910. It is an interesting book for longtime residents of the township as well as an informative book for newcomers.

Now I shall have to pick some green beans and cucumbers before we have another shower. Everyday I seem to be canning tomatoes or freezing beans and applesauce. But, I'm glad to have something to keep me busy.

Allen has been getting out of the house more than before and he has trimmed the raspberries.

Grilled Honey-Glazed Pork Tenderloin With Onions

Grilled Honey-Glazed Pork Tenderloin With Onions

- 1/2 cup buckwheat honey
- 1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon minced garlic
- 2 teaspoons herbes de Provence seasoning mixture
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 pounds pork tenderloin
- 3 medium onions

Combine honey, oil, vinegar, garlic, herbes, salt and pepper in shallow pan. Add pork and turn to coat well. Cover and refrigerate 2 to 4 hours. Turn pork occasionally. Remove pan from refrigerator 30 minutes before grilling.

Prepare grill for medium-hot fire with an indirect heat area. Slice onions in rounds 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick.

Remove pork from marinade and boil marinade 1 minute. Taste and add more salt if needed.

Grill pork over indirect heat, covered, until middle is about 145°F (25 to 30 minutes). Brush pork generously with the marinade, and turn every 10 minutes to evenly cook.

Put onions over direct heat and brush with marinade. Turn frequently, brushing with marinade, until well marked and soft (8 to 12 minutes). Move onions off direct heat to finish cooking.

Let pork rest 5 minutes before slicing into 3/4-inch thick slices. Serve with grilled onions.

Serves 4 to 6

Curried Honey Sweet Potato Soup

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 onion, diced
- 4 medium cloves garlic, peeled
- 6 cups (48 ounces) chicken or vegetable stock
- 1 pound sweet potatoes, peeled and cut into chunks
- 1 medium russet potato, peeled and cut into chunks
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 6 tablespoons orange blossom honey, divided
- 1 medium red bell pepper, seeded and diced
- 2 to 3 teaspoons curry powder
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh cilantro (optional)

Heat oil over medium-high heat in soup pot. Add onion and saute until translucent, 2 to 3 minutes. Add garlic and saute 1 minute. Add stock, potatoes and salt. Cover and simmer until potatoes are tender, about 15 minutes.

Puree mixture in batches, put soup back over low heat and add 5 tablespoons of the honey, bell pepper, curry powder, pepper and ginger. Bring to a simmer, taste and adjust seasonings.

Microwave remaining 1 tablespoon honey for 5 seconds on High. Serve soup drizzled with a little warm honey and sprinkled with chopped cilantro, if desired.

Makes about 8 cups, serves 4 to 6

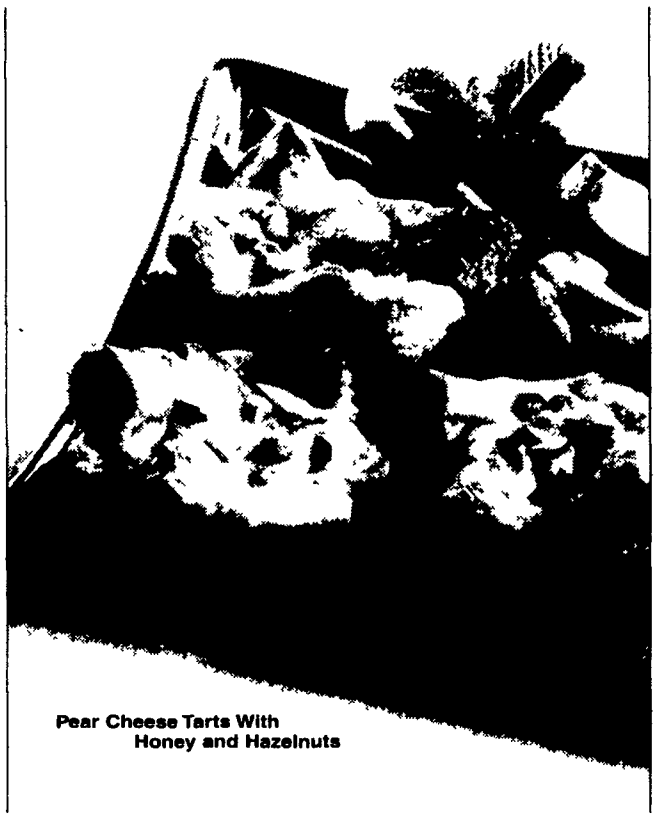
A TASTE OF Honey

If variety is the spice of life, then honey lovers are in for a treat with the many types of honey now available. More than 300 different varieties of honey are found in the United States, each providing a unique flavor and color depending on the blossoms visited by the honey bees. These varieties offer ample opportunity for taste exploration.

Experiment with light, medium and dark honey varietals in your kitchen. Incorporate them in favorite recipes that call for sugar, drizzle over muffins and breads or stir into soups, stir frys and sauces. To find a specific variety of honey, go to www.honeylocator.com.

For more varietal honey recipes, send a self-addressed, business-sized, stamped envelope to: Honey Varietal Brochure, National Honey Board, 390 Lashley Street, Longmont, CO 80501.



Pear Cheese Tarts With Honey and Hazelnuts

Pear Cheese Tarts With Honey and Hazelnuts

- 1 box (17.3 ounces) frozen puff pastry
- 1 pear, cored and quartered
- 1 lemon, zested and juiced
- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sage honey, divided
- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup chopped hazelnuts
- Baking spray

Remove puff pastry from freezer 30 minutes before using. Preheat oven to 400°F.

Cut pear into thin slices. Combine pear, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon honey in small bowl. Reserve another 1 tablespoon honey in small heatproof bowl.

Use mixer to beat cream cheese until smooth. Scrape down sides and add honey, flour and lemon zest. Mix until smooth. Add eggs, scrape down sides again and mix until very smooth.

Cut pastry sheets into 9 squares. Spray muffin tin with baking spray. Carefully fit 1 square into each muffin cup. Fill each cup with 2 tablespoons cheese mixture. Cut pear slices to fit muffin tin. Fan 3 or 4 pear slices over each cup and sprinkle with 1 teaspoon hazelnuts. Freeze 10 to 15 minutes to firm pastry.

Bake cold tarts until pastry is lightly browned and cheese is puffed, about 20 minutes. Repeat with remaining pastry squares and filling. Microwave reserved honey 5 seconds on High and drizzle tarts with warm honey.

Let tarts sit 10 to 15 minutes before serving or refrigerate and reheat in a 350°F oven for 10 minutes.

Makes 18 tarts

With more than 300 varieties of honey in the United States, there is a honey for every occasion. Following is a sampling of varietal honeys ranging from light to dark, with darker honeys having a stronger flavor.

LIGHT HONEY	Flavor Characteristics
Alfalfa	Mild flavor, beeswax aroma. Use in desserts such as tarts and cookies.
Clover	Sweet flowery flavor. Delicious in freshly brewed tea and other beverages.
Sage	Sweet, clover-like flavor, mild floral aftertaste. Pair with cheese and crackers for a tantalizing appetizer.

MEDIUM HONEY	Flavor Characteristics
Blueberry	Aroma reminiscent of green leaves with a touch of lemon. Adds fruity flavor to warm scones.
Orange Blossom	Sweet and fruity taste that is reminiscent of citrus. Delicious in frosty smoothies.
Tupelo	Complex floral, herbal, fruity flavor and aftertaste. Decadent atop warm biscuits.

DARK HONEY	Flavor Characteristics
Buckwheat	Pungent, molasses-like flavor. Add this dark and malty honey to create rich, barbecue sauces.
Eucalyptus	Herbal flavor with fruity aftertaste, sometimes with a menthol flavor. Mild, sweet flavor complements tender lamb shanks.
Wildflower	Floral, pungent flavor. Ranges from dark to very dark and is delicious blended in dressings and marinades.

Processing Times

Have you ever wondered why it takes so much longer to process tomatoes than to process peaches?

The amount and method of heat processing used in canning mainly depends on the pH of the food. (pH is a measure of acidity with lower numbers indicating higher acidity). Cranberries, lemons, jams, jellies, conserves, apple and grape juice, and some pickled products are very high in acid and have pH values around 3.0.

When these foods are fairly disease-free, handled in a sanitary manner, and put in the jars boiling hot; they can be processed as little as five minutes in a boiling water canner. This is adequate to kill air-borne microorganisms that are in the headspace of the jar. When the processing time is less than 10 minutes, it is necessary to sterilize the jars for 10 minutes in boiling water before adding the hot food.

Most berries, apples, apricots, grapes, nectarines, peaches, pears, pineapples, rhubarb, and some pickled foods have pH values of 3.4 to 4.0. They require more heat to destroy their spoilage microorganisms and must be processed from 10 to 35 minutes.

Tomatoes and figs are borderline acidic with pH values of 4.0 to 4.6 after being acidified with lemon juice or citric acid. The lower acidity of tomatoes and figs allows the growth of some mildly heat-resistant, spore forming bacteria which requires a minimum internal food temperature of 200F during processing of the filled jars. This will take from 45 to 85 minutes of processing time in boiling water.

Vegetables, meats, and seafood are low-acid foods with pH values above 4.6. This acidity level is too low to prevent the growth of very heat-resistant spore-forming bacteria commonly found on these foods. Under more favorable conditions the spores can grow and produce harmful toxins. Therefore, these foods must be processed in a pressure canner at temperatures in excess of 240F to be safe. Processing these foods at lower temperatures requires much longer times to destroy spores therefore making it unsafe to process in a boiling water bath.

Another factor influencing processing time is the style and density of the food being canned. Thin juice heats more quickly than thick juice. Juice heats more quickly than fruit pieces or sauces. Whole or halved tomatoes heat more quickly when packed in water than in thick juice or without liquid. Cubes of pumpkin in water heat more rapidly than does a strained product. In fact, pumpkin sauce is so dense that it is not safe to can it even in a pressure canner because the internal temperature does not reach a safe level for killing bacterial spores. Cream-style corn requires more processing time than whole-kernel corn that is packed in water. Many soups are combinations of food pieces and broth. Heating is slower when food pieces are larger or there are more pieces in the jar. Adding starch to the broth also slows the heating. Never add flour, cornstarch, or other starch-based thickeners to products to be canned unless it is a USDA tested recipe. Soups and stews can be thickened before they are served.

Other factors also increase processing time. Raw packed food requires more time than hot packed food. Quarts take longer than pints. Steam under pressure raises the temperature above the boiling point of water. Thus, a pressure canner takes less time to destory bacteria. Food processed at higher altitudes requires additional time because water boils at a lower temperature at higher altitudes. Because there are so many variables affecting processing time, it is important for canning safety that tested recipes be used.

Besides killing spoilage organisms, proper processing is necessary for a good vacuum seal. Air inside the headspace expands during processing; as the air cools a vacuum seal is formed preventing spoilage organisms from entering the jar during storage.

Taste Of Honey

September is National Honey Month and before you take a bite from your crisp apple or tangy pear you need to take a moment and thank the little honey bee for all his hard work in pollinating all the fruit trees and the bulk of our nation's agricultural crops.

The tiny little insects keep us in constant supply of sweet-tasting honey for consumption, thus providing us with nature's original sweetener.

Did you know that Americans consume nearly 1.5 pounds of honey anually — mixing it into sweet and savory recipes. Probably not.

If you are looking for something different to try without all the sugar please consider these good honey and dairy recipes.

HONEY AND FRUIT SPREAD

½ cup butter
¼ cup dried fruit (apricots, raisins, dates, etc.)
¼ cup honey
2 tablespoons chopped pecans
½ teaspoon grated orange peel

Combine all ingredients. Mix well. Spread on English muffins, waffles, toast or hot biscuits. This is a new and exciting taste to add to your breakfast. Makes about ¼ cup.

GRANOLA BARS

24 ounces marshmallows
¼ cup margarine

Melt marshmallows and margarine, then add:

¼ cup vegetable oil
½ cup honey
¼ cup peanut butter

In a large bowl mix together:

1½ cup crispy rice cereal
5 cups toasted oatmeal
1½ cup raisins
1 cup M&M's or chocolate chips
1 cup crushed graham crackers
1 cup crushed peanuts
1 cup coconut

Add marshmallow mixture and press into two 9x13-inch pans.

HONEY HAM LOAF

2 pounds ground ham
1 pound freshly ground pork
3 slices bread
½ cup milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup honey
2 teaspoons vinegar

Combine and mix ground meats in a bowl. Soak bread in milk and add to meat with remaining 2 ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Mold into loaf and place in shallow roasting pan. Before baking, pour mixture of ¼ cup of brown sugar, ¼ cup of honey, and 2 teaspoons of vinegar over top of loaf. Bake at 350 degrees for 2 hours.

ANSWER — Here is another recipe for muffins requested by a reader. Thanks to Nancy Kramer for sending it.

Blueberry Cream Muffins

4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sour cream
2 cups fresh or frozen, drained blueberries

In mixing bowl, beat eggs, gradually add sugar while beating slowly add oil and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients and add alternately with sour cream to the egg mixture just until moistened. Fold blueberries in very gently.

Spoon into greased or paper-lined muffin cups. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes or until done.

Note: These muffins freeze well. They may be thawed and heated in a microwave. Also, it is very important to mix as directed. Overmixing may cause dry muffins. You may place a pan of water in the oven when baking muffins to help keep them moist.

ANSWER — Margaret Grieff, Sidman, wanted to know if Cool Whip may be interchanged with whipped cream in recipes. A reader answers that she substitutes Cool Whip for whipped cream all the time and has never had any problems with the substitution.

ANSWER — A reader wanted complete instructions and recipe to make cheese. Thanks to Joyce Bell, Lebanon, for sending a recipe she found in a 1981 magazine. If you are using raw milk, be sure the cows have not been treated with antibiotics for several days, as the medication kills the starter and prevents cheese from ripening.

Here are some basic cheese recipes that must be put in the freezer after five days to prevent spoilage. Thaw and cut off the amount needed. All but the cottage cheese can be refrozen.

Mozzarella Cheese

Pour one gallon milk into container, add 3 tablespoons unpasteurized buttermilk or 1 tablespoon vinegar to milk. Stir well and let rest 6-12 hours.

Heat milk to 90 degrees and stir in ½ tablet rennet dissolved in one tablespoon cold water. Remove from heat, cover, let set in warm spot for 30 minutes or until curds are set.

Take your hands and break into small pieces. Place over slow heat, stirring occasionally with your hands. When curds begin to stick together, gather into mass and put into cheese press.

Press cheese for 30 minutes adding more weight every five minutes. Do not add too much weight as you want to keep enough whey in cheese for easy melting. Ten pounds should be enough.

Take cloth off cheese and put back into whey; heat to just below boiling, slowly on low heat. Remove cheese from whey and put into cloth — let drain overnight.

Melting Cheese

One gallon milk heated to 86 degrees. Stir in ¼ tablet Rennet dissolved in one tablespoon cold water. Let set covered in warm place for about 30 minutes. Cut curd into pieces with a long knife and stir a little, put on low heat and bring up to 120 degrees without stirring.

Heat until curds mat together and float in the whey. Take out of whey and knead into ball. Hang up to drain in cloth and then refrigerate. Yields about one pound.

Cottage Cheese

Put one gallon milk into container, heat on low heat to just under boiling point — 200 degrees.

Remove from heat immediately and stir ½ cup white vinegar into milk. Milk will instantly form curds or look curdled.

Let stand uncovered until lukewarm and then strain through a colander lined with a cloth.

When drained, immerse into cold water to finish draining whey from cheese. Drain thoroughly and store in refrigerator until needed or add salt to taste and then freeze.

Thaw uncovered and add cream if desired.

CORRECTION — The recipe for Chocolate Chip Applesauce Cake that was printed in this column on Sept. 13, did not list applesauce. The recipe should have listed 2 cups applesauce.

ANSWER — James Breon wanted a recipe to make a Reuben sandwich. Thanks to a reader for sending a recipe. Use the amount desired for each sandwich.

Grilled Reuben

2 slices rye bread, butter on each slice for gilling
Swiss cheese
Corned beef
Sauerkraut

Make sandwich and grill in skillet until lightly browned.

If desired, turkey can be substituted for the corned beef, coleslaw for the sauerkraut, and add fried onions.

ANSWER — Thanks to a reader for sending a recipe for quick summer cooking, which she writes is very refreshing.

Sandwich Ring

2 tubes refrigerated French bread dough

Form circle with dough, pinching ends to seal. Sprinkle with Italian seasoning and three garlic cloves.

Bake at 350 degrees for 26-30 minutes until golden. Cool.

Cut in half through middle (sandwich style). Sprinkle top and bottom sandwich lids with 3 tablespoons each Italian salad dressing. Layer with cheese, ham, turkey, thinly sliced lettuce, tomatoes, and onions. Put sandwich top and enjoy.

ANSWER — G. Minckler, Wayne, requested recipes using rice flour. Here are two a reader sent.

Rice Flour Cookies

1 cup rice flour
½ cup oil
4 tablespoons honey
¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup nuts, ground

Blend all ingredients thoroughly. Chill for several hours or overnight. Roll into balls the size of walnuts. Arrange on well-oiled cookie sheets. Press flat with bottom of glass. Bake at 350 degrees about 12 minutes. Makes 2 dozen.

Rice Flour Muffins

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Have all ingredients about 75 degrees. Measure into bowl:

1 cup rice flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1-2 tablespoons sugar

Melt:

2 tablespoons shortening. When slightly cool, add:
1 well-beaten egg
1 cup milk

Mix dry ingredients well and with a few light strokes, combine with the liquid mixture, about 10 strokes are all that is necessary.

The muffins are less crumbly if you add the following before the ingredients are completely moistened:

⅛ cup raisins or 2 tablespoons orange or pineapple marmalade

If you add the marmalade, omit sugar. Bake 12-15 minutes and serve at once. Makes about two dozen 2-inch muffins.

Obesity Due To Dairy Is Myth

ALBANY, N.Y. — A new study confirms what dairy farmers in New York State have been saying for years — drinking milk is good for you.

The September issue of the International Journal of Obesity dispels the myth put forth by animal rights and anti-dairy groups that drinking milk will make teenage girls overweight. In fact, nutritional experts agree that dairy products are an essential component of a diet during adolescent development.

The study concludes that dairy consumption in adolescent girls is not associated with a higher body mass index (BMI) or is an increase in percentage of body fat. This study, which followed the girls from pre-adolescence through adolescence, is the first in children to analyze the relationship between dairy food consumption and body weight status over time.

Research has shown that getting the calcium required to build bone mass in adolescence may help prevent osteoporosis.

Nearly nine out of ten teenage girls do not get the calcium they need, and this deficiency is largely driven by low dairy intake.

"This is the most important time of year to get the message to today's youth that milk is an essential part of a healthy diet," said John Lincoln, President of New York Farm Bureau and a dairy farmer in Bloomfield, New York. "As students return to school, they will be making the decision what to drink during the school day. We can't emphasize enough that their decision should be to drink milk."

"Many young women cut out dairy for fear of fat. This study shows that they can keep milk, cheese and yogurt in their diets and maintain a healthy weight," said Deanna Rose, registered dietician, National Dairy Council.

"Dairy foods are the best natural sources of calcium and provide a unique nutrient combination of nine essential nutrients. Parents and health professionals should encourage teens to enjoy 3-4 servings of dairy a day, which is as easy as having a slice of cheese, a glass of chocolate milk and a container of yogurt."

QUESTION — L. T. Burke, Southampton, wants to know where to buy outdoor iron furniture from the 1960s-1970s that is in new or very good condition. He wants straight and rocking chairs.

QUESTION — Naomi King, Lititz, wants to know where to purchase replacement thermos lids with attached spouts to drink from. They are the 2-quart Rubbermaid jugs with screw-on lids.

QUESTION — Betty Jakum, Littlestown, wants to know where to purchase a gasoline-powered rotary lawn mower that cuts 18 inches or less to use for trimming.

QUESTION — Diane Gray, 70 Damascus Rd., Blandon, PA 19510, wants information and bottles from the former Lebanon or Lebanon Valley Dairy.

QUESTION — Marie Hixson, Crystal Spring, wants to know how to grow wild rice. They live on a farm with some wet areas that she believes would be suitable for growing rice. Anyone know where she can find information?

QUESTION — Warren Glidewell, Bloomsburg, wants to know where to find Flemish giant rabbits in a fawn color.

ANSWER — Several months ago, a reader inquired about good quality freezer boxes. She was not pleased with any she could find. Through research and some financial assistance, she had heavy duty boxes manufactured with the words "Dutch Freeze" stamped on the lid and bottom container. These are now available from Stauffer's, Lititz; Twin Hill Shop, Terre Hill; Good's Store, East Earl; Country Housewares, New Holland; Bareville Hardware, Bareville; Smucker's Fabric, Leola; and Traditions,

Kids Korner

Too busy to talk.

In between showing cows for Wentworth Farm, Quarryville, these kids hang out in the barn. Included are two sets of twins Hannah and Ethan Wentworth, 13, and Oliver and Noah Wentworth, 6, with friends Chelsey Eager, 13, and Kyle Miller, 12.

Kelsey, 6, and Carrie, 3, are the children of James and Lisa Knight and spend fair days in be barn with their grandparents who own Kildary Acres. The girls report that they never get bored. They play games with other kids in the barn, and answer questions that preschoolers ask about the cows.

Jessica Brown, 10, comes for fun, to look around, and get fries and a milkshake. Her sister Samantha, 7, prefers to get a snowcone and cotton candy.

What's A Kid Do At Solanco Fair?

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Fair time at Southern Lancaster County Community Fair (Solanco) is family fun for many attendees.

Solanco is a fair without a midway and other glitzy entertainment. Instead, Solanco shows what real fairs are meant to be — a time to show off the fruits of their labors in animal production, gardening, baking, canning, sewing, quilting, and other skills.

Some participants come to show cows or sheep or pigs. Some enter pumpkins or other garden-grown specimans. Some set up booths promoting local businesses.

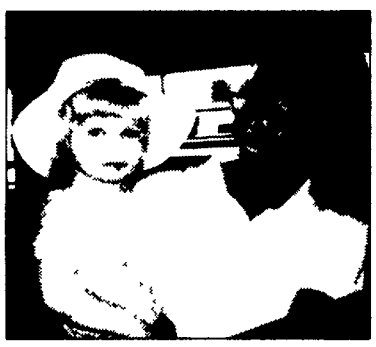
But most people come to have old-fashioned fun.

Many children delight in spending time in the livestock barns — up close and personal with four-legged animals.

These photos capture kids enjoying Solanco Community Fair last week.

Photos by Lou Ann Good, food and family features editor

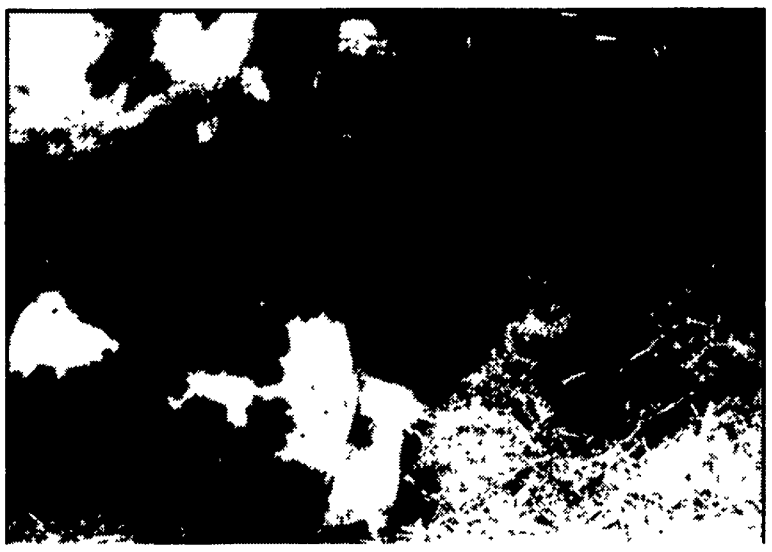
Claire Pyle, 3, and her brother Sam, 2, came all the way from North Carolina to visit their grandmother, Cathy Pyle, who brought them to the fair.



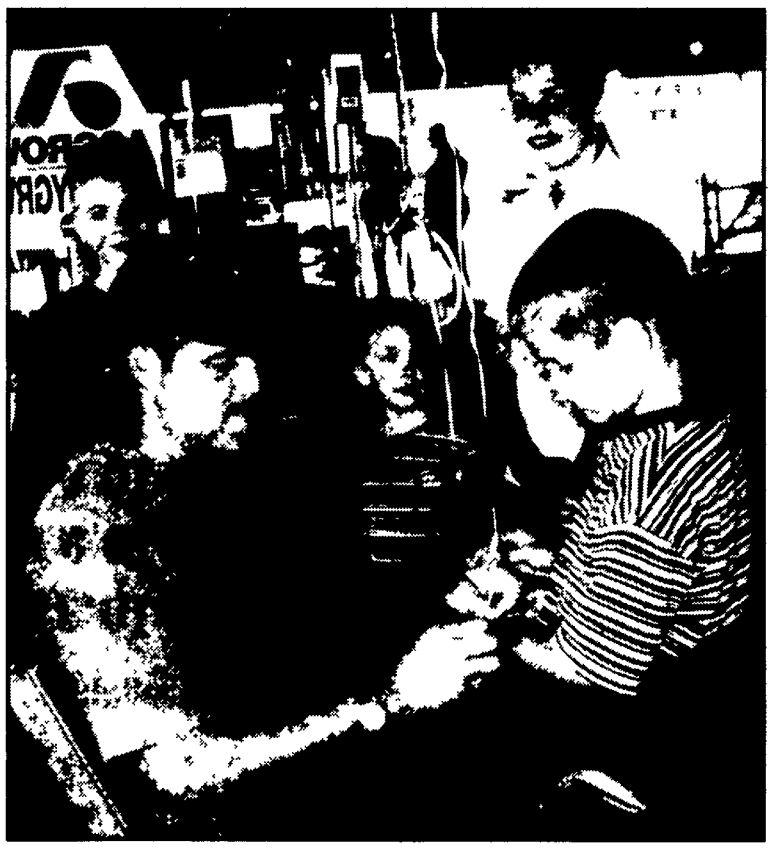
Donna Rakem, Quarryville, is delighted with her 21-month-old granddaughter Ivana Wilson's fascination in watching the sheep show.

Brooke and Jason Mazepink climb on a fence to watch their cousins Katrina and Freddy Frey show sheep.

Luke Puckett, 3, son of Sharon and Joe Puckett, Annville, sits on a pumpkin during his first visit to the fair.



Oopps — Looks like someone got crushed by this cow. Actually, it's fake — a joke by 4-H'ers who spend days and nights in the barn during the fair.



While Herb Weaver of Weaver's Feed and Supply, Quarryville, operates a booth. The Weaver children Kirby, 7; Abby, 11; Hannah, 5, and Patrick, 10, find balloons and other exciting things to do while hanging out with their dad at the fair.

Martinsburg (Blair County). Stores may call Verna Shirk, Leola, for samples at (717) 656-7778.

ANSWER — Martha Oberholtzer, Mifflinburg, wanted to know where to get a sealing ring for a 4-quart Mirro pressure cooker number M-0404. Thanks to Mary Jane Waybright, Gettysburg, for writing that she also needed a seal for her Mirro pressure cooker. She called toll-free Culinary Parts (866) 7278-4357. They told her the amount to send to receive the part.

ANSWER — Bruce Nattiess, Fleetwood, wanted to know if anyone knows of a source to buy replacement tips for the cone on a Woodbuster PTO driven log splitter. Thanks to Bob Snyder, Akron, Ohio, for writing that he doesn't think replacement parts are available. "But any competent welding or machine shop should be able to rebuild the existing one or make a new replacement part," Snyder writes.

ANSWER — Shirley Schwoerner, Wysox, wrote that some time ago she had clipped an answer in this column from Joyce Raubenstine who told how to make creams from aloe vera. The instructions were unclear, and she asks if someone can tell her the exact amount of aloe vera to use. Thanks to Mrs. Benuel S. Fisher, Strasburg, for taking the time to answer. To crush the leaves of aloe vera and mix with four parts melted fat and one part white wine means take 1 cup crushed aloe vera, 4 cups melted lard, and 1 cup dry white wine. Another example would be ¼ cup crushed aloe vera, 1 cup melted lard, and ¼ cup dry white wine.

Also, thanks to Joyce Raubenstine who writes that you must break the leaves of the aloe off first. Then using a flat stick, push the fluid in the leaf out (working from the leaf point to where it was broken off). After the fluid is collected, heat it gently until thin enough to strain through a cotton cloth. Measure or weigh the fluid collected. Add four times as much melted lard. Add only dry white wine equal to the amount of aloe vera you collected.

Heat mixture gently for 20 minutes in a double boiler. Stir well with a spoon, and put into a small jar with a tight-fitting lid.

represent her county and meet great people from the dairy industry and other princesses were her greatest accomplishments.

Pam, daughter of Phillip and Donna Werley of Hamburg, said that being part of a team that went to the National Dairy Convention and placed third was a highlight for her.

County alternate dairy princesses serve milk punch, cheese, and crackers during the pre-banquet reception. From left are Erin Williams, Lebanon; Jodi Keith, Huntingdon; and Chelsey Cooper, Beaver.

Holly, 18-year-old daughter of David and Debra Liggett of Bessemer, said that moment was the greatest for her — that she came never thinking it would happen (to be a finalist).

Carla, 19-year-old daughter of D.David and Robbin Martin, Manheim, said that it might sound kind of funny, but her greatest accomplishment was participating in the state fair queen pageant and losing.

"It helped me realize who I am," she said.

Ashley, 17-year-old daughter of Richard Jr. and Patricia Bird of Pleasant Gap, said that she wouldn't say any one thing is her greatest accomplishment, but everything she tries to do is an accomplishment, from helping a friend to being crowned county dairy princess.

Emily, 19-year-old daughter of Jeff and Linda Grove of Shippensburg, said that her biggest accomplishment is living every day for Jesus Christ. "Even when things don't go as I want, he puts a smile on my face."

After the impromptu questioning, judges again conferred and selected the royalty team. Carla is one of 13 children ranging in ages from 1 to 23 years. The Martins milk 120 cows on their 300-acre farm in Manheim. Carla completed home schooling requirements last year and is studying nursing at Lancaster Bible College.

Pam helps milk 65 cows on the family's 160-acre farm, and is a sophomore at Kutztown University.

Emily just completed a year as the Pennsylvania state FFA secretary, and is a freshman at Penn State Mount Alto, pursuing an ag business degree. The Grove family has 160 milking cows on their 300-acre farm.

Pageant activities included additional awards and entertainment. One of those, the Tina Schultz Memorial Award is given each year in memory of the 1985-1985 Huntingdon County Dairy Princess, who did an outstanding job promoting the dairy industry while fighting a losing battle with cancer.

Award recipient must be a dedicated, enthusiastic promoter willing to go far beyond requirements on behalf of the industry and its products. Selected was Jessica Landis, Somerset County, who thought up many innovative ways to promote the industry, and who convinced school board members to install three milk vending machines in schools.

The royalty team from the past year performed an impromptu rendition of "The Dairy Chicks." The team wrote the lyrics during a long drive between promotions.

Junia Isiminger, executive director for PDPPS, said Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Rachael Kilgore, First Alternate Rachel Ebert, and Second Alternate Ashley Chapman fulfilled an outstanding year of promotion through their unselfish teamwork.

Master of Ceremonies Jeff Myers, Maryland, said that he has coached numerous youth, but Rachael Kilgore stands out as "brilliant, talented, well spoken, with skills that most of us only dream about, and excels in humility and genuiness."

In her farewell speech, Rachael said that she sought to make every moment of promotion incredible. She believes every person going through life leaves a trail of footprints. She spoke of the many people whose footprints left an impression upon her and her desire to carry the values of responsibility, leadership, and teamwork with her in the future.

County princesses efforts to promote dairy products reach thousands of people. Last year county dairy princesses reached an estimated 417,914 people through school, store, and mall promotions, newspaper articles, radio and television appearances, and other events.

New York, New Jersey Dairy Promoters Gather At Training Seminar

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Dairy princesses across New York and New Jersey attended the annual Dairy Princess Training Seminar at White Eagle Conference Center in Hamilton, N.Y. recently. The seminar gave 33 county princesses from New York and the New Jersey State Dairy Princess, Brynn Kirby, the opportunity to meet and learn about the dairy princess program and dairy promotion.

Throughout the next year, the dairy princesses will visit schools and attend events and meetings, as well as write newspaper articles spreading the word about the importance of dairy products and the dairy industry. The dairy princess program is a strong method of communication, used to convey the health benefits and versatility of dairy products to consumers and their families.

Dairy Princesses from across New York gathered for the NYS Dairy Princess Seminar. GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — Even though snow still has an icy grip on Pennsylvania producers couldn't help thinking about spring plantings and new seed sales as they gathered recently at the Holiday Inn in Grantville for the 2003 Corn and Soybean Conference.

Top placings in the classes are in a related story on this page.

More than 100 producers and industry representatives attended the event sponsored by the Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association, the Pennsylvania Soybean Board and Penn State Cooperative Extension.

Dr. [illegible], associate professor, School of Hotel Restaurant and Recreation Management, Penn State, discussed how a specialty drink developed on behalf of the Pennsylvania Soybean Promotion Board, grant

After the product was developed and tested in process that took 15 months, it was moved on to consumer testing. The university's football team was picked as the group of consumers to try the product.

After practice, researcher asked the players opinions of the drink which resembles a chocolate milkshake, according to Bordi. "The players actually developed the drink — they told us what they liked and didn't like," he said.

By NCAA rules, the drink could be no more than 40 percent protein. Pasteurized as Penn State's Creamery, it has a shelf life of 30-45 days.

Besides taste, health benefits were also an important [illegible]. Researchers measured dietary intake, and took blood and urine samples. They also asked the players to rate their [illegible]

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — The recent Pennsylvania Corn and Soybean Conference drew approximately 125 producers and industry representatives to a one-day event conducted here at the Holiday Inn.

The Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association (PCGA), Pennsylvania Soybean Board and Penn State Cooperative Extension sponsored the event.

Contest results are also a highlight of the conference. There were 67 participants in the Five Acre Corn Club contests according to Greg Roth, corn management research and extension, Penn State.

MOVING OUR INDUSTRY FORWARD WITH PARTNERSHIPS

I do a lot of traveling around the region and the state and I continue to hear many producers and industry folks ask what we need to be doing to move our corn and grain industry ahead in Pennsylvania in these trying times.

I think we are starting to make progress but it's difficult to achieve much by working alone.

Many of us believe that just by working harder each day we can accomplish our goals but I'm finding that by working together in partnerships among industry, universities, producers and government we can achieve things that one group cannot achieve alone.

I've seen numerous examples of this starting to happen in other regions and now starting to happen in our industry here in Pennsylvania as

HARVEST FESTIVAL ANTIQUE TRACTOR PULLS AT SCHUYLKILL CO. FAIRGROUNDS

The Schuylkill County Agricultural Museum will be having Antique Tractor Pulls at the Schuylkill County Fairgrounds on Sat., October 4th at 11 a.m. The Antique Tractor Pulls held in October have been a tradition for many years. The first Tractor Pulls at the Schuylkill County Fair were held this year with the possibility of expanding to include 4 wd pickup trucks, mini modified tractors, and some later model tractors in the future. The Ag. Museum will be open for tours all day. Featured in the museum will be many antique gas engines including a 1906 Bessemer gas engine weighing 14,000 lbs. that was donated to the museum by a local family that owned a feed mill in western PA. It has been totally restored and will be in operation periodically throughout the day. Also on display will be an original Conestoga Wagon along with other antique farm machinery.

Admission to pull and museum is Free.

Anyone interested in competing in the tractor pull may call Kevin Berger at (570) 739-4263 for details. Tractors must be manufactured prior to 1960. A fee of $7 per hook will be charged to compete. Registration starts at 9 a.m.

OARDC Dedicates Ohio Historical Marker

WOOSTER, Ohio. — The Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center (OARDC) celebrated its past and looked to the future as it dedicated an Ohio Historical Marker recently during the BioHio open house in Wooster.

The marker commemorates the center's founding in 1882 as the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, a milestone chosen by the Ohio Bicentennial Commission as one of the top 10 agricultural events in Ohio?s history.

The brown-and-golden sign, double sided and of cast aluminum, will be located near the Nault Pavilion on OARDC's Wooster campus. An identical one will be erected on Ohio State's Columbus campus. OARDC is the research arm of the university's College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences.

The statewide marker program, administered by the Ohio Historical Society, aims to honor local history and teach Ohioans about their state.

"We've had not only a proud past, we have a proud future as well," said OARDC Director Steve Slack in his remarks at the ceremony.

Among OARDC's achievements, Slack said, are the world's first crop-dusting tests in 1921; discovering the nature of phytophthora root rot in soybeans and breeding new varieties that resist it; spurring Ohio's tomato industry, now in the top 10 nationally; reviving the state's wine industry, now worth $70 million a year; and caring for and studying the world's longest continuously maintained no-till research plots.

Current and future efforts, he said, include the development of a new, high-protein soybean variety that led to the construction of a new processing plant in Ohio and 300 new jobs in that plant; continuing to aid the state's growing "green industries," which now earn $3 billion a year; and continuing to pioneer better food-safety methods, such as pulsed electric field (PEF) technology, which uses electrical currents to sterilize processed foods and improve their taste and safety.

Rough And Tumble Engineers

Prepare Up For Fall Harvest Days

KINZERS (Lancaster Co.) — Members of the Rough and Tumble (R&T) Engineers Historical Association are busy finalizing plans for their 2003 Fall Harvest Days, October 10 and 11, at their grounds and museum along the Lincoln Highway, U.S. Route 30, 12 miles east of Lancaster.

The gates will open early, 7 a.m., for visitors to stroll the grounds and look over the many old tractors, equipment and steam engines. Saturday morning at 7, there will be an apple butter making demonstration. About 9 a.m. each day, quite a sight to see will be the members firing up their steam engines.

Popular to visitors on the grounds are the large and small railroads. The Shay Rail Road provides rides around the extensive Rough and Tumble grounds and "Little Toot Rail Road" with a miniature steam engine provides rides for the children.

Throughout the two days, there will be corn husking, shredding and sheller demonstrations, using different types of equipment.

The schedule and the activities are subject to the weather and also the availability of volunteers to help with demonstrations. Last year's Time of Harvest was marred by damp weather which affected the attendance.

Widely know for their "Thresherman's Reunion," the R&T association started a harvest time event years ago for a last chance "to fire up their boilers and have some fun before draining them and putting them away for the winter months." They also have found that the public likes to watch their "fun."

Louis Frantz, association president, said that this year's event will have more opportunities for children. They have planned children's corn husking, shelling and grinding events, plus a small pumpkin decorating contest using magic markers.

The R&T's web site at www.roughandtumble.org is a source for extensive information and many photos of the group's antique farm equipment and steam engines. For more information on the R&T's 2003 Time of Harvest, call (717) 755-4797.

Visitors line up to watch a hand cranked sheller demonstration during a past harvest day event at the Rough and Tumble Engineers on the Lincoln Highway, U.S. Route 30, in Kinzers, 12 miles East of Lancaster.

For the little folks, the R&T has the "Little Toot RR," which is a miniature steam engine pulling open top cars. Big folks can ride too.

At the Rough and Tumble Engineers Association's harvest days a few years ago, a youngster is pictured in R&T's 1929 Lynn Halftrack Model 25D.

A self-described baseball buff all his life, Leonard Noll buys and sells sports cards.

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

MORGANTOWN (Berks Co.) — "It's fun to look. It's fun to buy. But it's not fun to sell," said Leonard Noll as he shuffled through hundreds of baseball cards.

But he does sell.

Noll said, "I must. My wife said my hobby is taking over the house. I have thousands of cards in my own collection. Cards are under the bed and everywhere."

A self-described baseball buff, Noll buys and sells cards at a booth inside The Mill Property Antiques, 2910 Main St., Rt. 23, Morgantown.

"The better items are older items," Noll said of determining value of cards. "A card of an outstanding player, a Hall of Famer, especially a rookie card of a player who goes on to become successful are most valuable."

Value is also determined by the age and condition of the card. Square corners, no ceases or smudges mean everything when it comes to assigning value.

"I have a card that would be worth $400, but it drops to $50 because someone pinned the card to a bulletin board and the pinholes remain," Noll said.

A 1952 Topp's Company card of Mickey Mantle lists for thousands of dollars, Noll said. He knows of one card in mint condition that sold for $15,000.

Noll is proud of a Phillies' player Richie Ashburn card he has that is worth $225. It isn't the price that causes Noll to treasure the card — it's the sentimental value attached to it.

He said, "I was a serious fan of his. I remember seeing him play. When he died about four years ago, the value of his card increased even more."

Noll also has a collection of "tobacco cards," which were sports cards placed in packs of tobacco during the early 1900s.

New cards are only valuable if you wait and the player becomes famous. Sometimes collectors will hold onto cards they expect will increase in value, but it doesn't always work that way. Noll said he was certain Ken Griffey Jr. would make it to Baseball's Hall of Fame, which would result in a dramatic rise in the demand of his card. Instead, Griffey was injured. The chances of him making it to the Hall of Fame are dismal, and price values for Griffey's card have dropped.

Serious collectors often seek to recreate sets of cards from a particular year and of whole teams.

Be careful not to reprint cards, Noll warns.

Finding good cards is often a matter of luck for Noll. He frequents flea markets, auctions, and other shops. Sometimes he buys whole collections from other collectors.

Noll places each of his cards in plastic cases. He said children who collect cards often mishandle them, which hinder their monetary value.

"But that's what cards are for — for kids to trade and admire. What fun would it be if they couldn't do that?" Noll asks.

Because he maintains a soft spot in his heart for kids, Noll sells 100 cards to kids for $1. He guarantees there are no duplicates, and while the kids might not find any of great value at this point, who knows? A player might go on to become famous and increase the card's value.

Also of interest to collectors are baseball bats, balls, gloves, and other items with the name of a famous baseball player. A Mickey Mantle autographed ball is worth $300. If marked with the name of an average player, the item has no value.

Collectors are always sports buffs like himself, Noll said. "You need to be, so you know which players are most collectible. I read the sports lineups and hits everyday."

Noll considers baseball selling more of a hobby than a business. He said, "My card prices are the lowest you're going to find."

The Mill Property Antiques is located on a tract of land along the Conestoga Creek in Morgantown. Stephen Mast had erected a mill on the land in 1882. More than 100 years later, stone ruins of the mill, its barn, and the dam still exist. The property and antique co-op are owned and operated by the Kurtz family, direct descendants of the Masts.

Mill Property Antiques is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. For more information, call (610) 286-8854 or (610) 286-7711.

Antique Fashion Dolls Had Wardrobes, Accessories

Fashion dolls were aptly named. Long before Barbie, some 18th and 19th century dolls had extensive "designer" wardrobes with matching accessories that included wigs and dresser sets. Depending on the doll maker and the quality of the wardrobe they can fetch big bucks at auction.

At a recent Skinner doll auction a Jumeau B'eb'e Mabel Rose Welch 11, Franc, c.1880, with an extensive original wardrobe sold for $28,200 — a rarity.

European dolls, made as early as the 14th century displayed the latest fashions and were gifts to royalty. Forget children playing with them. They were so highly prized that often kings displayed them in special cabinets. By the time of Louis XIV, the dolls made for his castle came with their own doll house, and even market shops with enameled shop keepers, and a sedan-chair for a royal shoppers, along with attendants.

Marie Antoinette and later Empress Eugenie gave gifts of dolls dressed in the latest Parisian styles. In fact, Eugenie had dolls made in her own likeness with duplicates of her gowns. By the late 18th century dolls were shipped abroad to display the newest fashions from Paris or Dijon.

By the late 19th century, producing clothes for dolls had become an important industry in France and America. As late as 1910, dolls were sent abroad to show the latest fashions.

While many were lady dolls, child-form dolls also showed French children's fashions.

These fashion dolls had a serious purpose, by the late 1870s. By then, dress and good taste were all important requirements for the socially correct, monied class. The dolls taught young women the proper dress for every occasion, along with accessories. They also showed the proper accessories such as opera glasses, writing sets and desks, sewing kits and playing cards.

CLUES: A "fashion doll" isn't really a type of doll, but instead a functional use of dolls.

Nearly any type of doll could, and was, dressed in the latest adults or children's fashions, and traveled to show current fashions. They were of different sizes and some were quite small. Heads were both bisque and china.

Many of the doll-size fans, hats, and furniture you see in shops and at shows may once have been part of a fashion dolls furnishings. Value of course, depends on condition and being in as close to original from parts to costume, as possible.

Unfortunately, many fashion dolls labeled as "all original" may be wearing new clothing and wigs. Look for the maker's mark on the back of the head, neck or back area. Since quality can vary within one doll maker firm, don't pay too much for the name.

The Jumeau B'eb'e Mabel Rose Welch 11 that sold for $28,200 had important documentation. The doll was named for her original owner, Mabel Rose Welch who bought it while on a European trip with her parents. The body is stamped "Jumeau Medaille d'Or Paris." While the trunk and some of the clothing is original, many pieces were added by later owners.

There are many talented designers specializing in doll clothes and accessories. They use materials of the period. When well done, this adds value to a doll without an authentic wardrobe. Don't pass up an old doll without clothing.

Attending as many doll shows and auctions as possible is a must for collectors. Invest in some of the books such as "15th Book of Doll Values" by Jan Foulke, and "The Beautiful Jumeau" by Florence Theriault.

Symposium Focuses On Pa. German Architecture

GREEN LANE (Montgomery Co.) — Public presentations of the Pennsylvania German folk culture in the Goschenhoppen region and contiguous Pennsylvania Dutch areas are one segment of the mission of the Goschenhoppen Historians. An aspect of this mission is the biannual Thomas R. Brendle Symposiums.

Each symposium presents a different theme, and the third in the series will address Pennsylvania German architecture.

The symposium is scheduled for Nov. 1. Four scholars of Pennsylvania German architecture will present aspects of this continental tradition, including the house, barn, outbuildings, and elements of Pennsylvania German architecture.

- Elements of Pa. German Architecture — Distinguishing Features by Richard Moraux and William Ross
- Outbuildings on the Farm by James A. Lewars
- Origin of the Pennsylvania Barn by Dr. Robert Ensminger
- The Pennsylvania German House by Alan G. Keyser

Colonial Pennsylvania (and central Maryland and valley of Virginia) witnessed the flowering of a Germanic folk culture. These vernacular building patterns remained purely Germanic for several generations after immigration. Large numbers of these 18th and early 19th century structures remain for study and preservation. For example, the Goschenhoppen Historians are restoring a 1736 purely Germanic house, the Henry (Heinrich) Antes house. Prior to its restoration, this large stone house on a back road saw little change in more than 250 years.

This symposium series bears the name of the late Reverend Thomas R. Brendle, the dean of Pennsylvania Dutch Folklorists. During his years as a pastor of the German Reformed Church, he collected over 15,000 individual entries into 40 notebooks, each entry a Pennsylvania German folk belief, folk practice, dialect vocabulary word, dialect riddle or local dialect name of a geographic feature, such as roads, hills, streams, valleys and additionally, he recorded in the 1930's wire recordings of dialect folk music.

The Goschenhoppen Historians owe a good part of their founding to the urging of Reverend Brendle to create a preservationist society in the historic Goschenhoppen folk region in Upper Montgomery County.

Brendle's admonitions were to collect not only the oral traditions (folk lore) but the material culture as well. An annual Pennsylvania German folk festival, a folklife library and museum, publications, and numerous tape-recorded interviews with local Folklife informants carry out his inspiration.

The Nov. 1 symposium at Red Men's Hall in Green Lane will be conducted from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The cost is $35 per person, lunch included. Send a check (your check is your reservation) by Oct. 27 to Goschenhoppen Historians, P.O. Box 476, Green Lane, PA 18054.

The Heinrich Antes house, built in 1736, features a central chimney, double attic and arched windows — all features of early colonial Pennsylvania Dutch architecture.

Juniata County Property
Sat., October 25, 2003
12:00 noon

Located between McAlisterville and Cocolamus along Valley Road just off Town Ridge and Swales Road, midway between Mifflintown and Selinsgrove just off Route 35. Look for signs.

Dunn Valley 80 Acre Farm

Parcel 1: 60 acres divided by the highway with old two-story log home, large bank barn, other outbuildings and a running stream, a beautiful property nicely located in the valley between two ridges, offering very productive tillable soil for the not-so-big farmer, and a good young hardy growth of hardwood timber for the woodsman. A very nice old-fashioned farm with excellent development potential.

Parcel 2: 20 acres surrounded by woodland just off the highway, excellent for farming or hunting, and is very secluded.

Both parcels are currently being farmed and sell with a recent survey, and located in a perfect, quiet country setting.

Real Estate Terms: 10% down day of sale, balance due in 45 days.

Showing Dates: Saturday, September 27 and October 4, 12:00 noon-3:00 p.m. or by appointment phone 717-463-2276.

DOUBLE-DECK DURABILITY

John Deere's exclusive double-decker design includes a domed top deck that sheds water and grass, preventing rust, and a bottom deck that protects the top deck from stumps and rocks. Put them together and you get a machine that's twice as strong as any other cutter.

CLUTCHES/GEAR REDUCTION ASSEMBLIES

Our Specialty
We stock them, stock the parts, pinions, gears, bearings, seals & gaskets, splined out puts, shafts, housing adaptors/reducers, and pilot bearing holders. With little or no changes, these new clutch/gear reduction assemblies could fit your gas or diesel engine - 50-100hp. Five different gear ratios. A valuable link between your engine and power take-off shaft equipment.

CLUTCH / 5.8:1 Planetary Gear Reduction Assemblies

For 8-30 HP Engines
Fits most — Honda, Robin, Kohler, Kawasaki, others (1-2 cyl.)

- Fits most standard crankshafts – 1", 1 1/8", 1 7/16"
- Aluminum Castings/Housings
- Ball & roller bearings, hardened gears

Don't Let the Hardpan Block Profit Potential

EXTRA 5% DISCOUNT FOR CASH OR INTEREST WAIVER UNTIL JULY 1, 2004 - NO FEES!

Hoober Offers Case-DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 Units From 3 to 9 Shanks

The Case-DMI Ecolo-Til 2500

- Breaks through the hardpan, unlike conventional tillage tools.
- Increases water absorption and air exchange for better nutrient flow up and down the soil profile and root system.
- Warms up the soil in the spring for earlier planting.
- Delivers more uniform crop germination.

CASE IH DMI

Hoober also has 530 and 730 Case-DMI subsoilers in stock and ready for delivery.

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — Even though snow still has an icy grip on Pennsylvania producers couldn't help thinking about spring planting and next years crop as they gathered recently at the Holiday Inn in Grantville for the 2003 Corn and Soybean Conference.

Top placings in the classes are in related story on this page.

More than 100 producers and industry representatives attended the event sponsored by the Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association, the Pennsylvania Soybean Board and Penn State Cooperative Extension.

professor, School of Hotel Restaurant and Recreation Management Penn State developed on lands from Pennsylvania Soybean Promotion Board grant.

After the product was developed and tested (a process that took 15 months) it was moved on to consumer testing. The university's football team was picked as the group of consumers to try the product.

After practice researchers asked the players opinions of the drink, which resembles a chocolate milkshake according to Bordi. "The players actually developed the drink — they told us what they liked and didn't like," he said.

By NCAA rules the drink could be no more than 30 per cent protein. Pasteurized as Penn States Creamery it has a shelf life of 30-45 days.

Besides taste health benefits, Bordi said, is important.

measured dietary intake, and took blood and urine samples. They also asked the players to rate their pace on numerical scale.

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — The recent Pennsylvania Corn and Soybean Conference drew approximately 125 producers and industry representatives to a one-day event conducted here at the Holiday Inn.

The Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association (PCGA) Pennsylvania Soybean Board and Penn State Cooperative Extension sponsored the event.

Contest results are also a highlight of the conference. There were 67 participants in the Five Acre Corn Club contests, according to Greg Roth corn management research and extension, Penn State.

In the three-year average (2000-2002) classes, awards went to:

Ear Corn Class (3-year average

Kyle Henninger, left, won the shelled corn no-till contest with 223.7 bushels per acre. With the win, Henninger will go to the Commodity Classic in Charlotte, N.C. Last year Henninger won first place in both the Pennsylvania and national shelled corn no-till classes. Herman Manbeck, Womelsdorf, had a third in the shelled corn no-till class. Photo by Michelle Kunjappu

Eight Bars Guide Crop Planting

MILLERSTOWN (Perry Co.) — Driving by sight and relying on disk marks and foam will be a thing of the past for farmers who opt to use digital technology to guide their field equipment.

Using the traditional foam marker may prove to be challenging at times, said Calvin Eby, assistant service manager at Hoober Inc.

MOVING OUR INDUSTRY FORWARD WITH PARTNERSHIPS

I do a lot of traveling around the region and the state, and I continue to hear many producers and industry folks ask what we need to be doing to move our corn and grain industry ahead in Pennsylvania in these trying times.

I think we are starting to make progress, but it's difficult to achieve much by working alone.

Many of us believe that just by working harder each day we can accomplish our goals, but I'm finding that by working together in partnerships among industry, universities, producers and government we can achieve things that one group cannot achieve alone.

I've seen numerous examples of this starting to happen in other regions and now starting to happen in our industry here in Pennsylvania as

HERE'S WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW: IT'S BETTER.

This new threshing system lets you do more, worry less and unload premium quality grain from every tank. It's the innovative Advanced Technology Rotor™ in the new MF 9000 Series Class VI and VII combines. It's packed with advanced features such as 360-degree feeding, computer-designed threshing system and improved cylinder bars–all to improve crop flow through the rotor and do a better job separating grain. Bottom line: increased capacity, improved efficiency, and best of all, a superior grain sample. See your Massey Ferguson Dealer today and check out all the advanced features on the new 9000 Series. That's what you need to do.

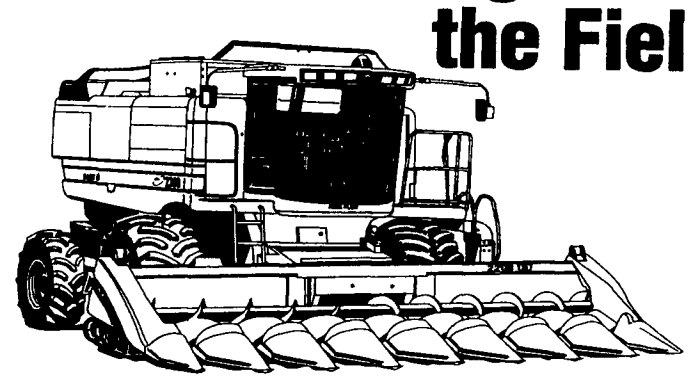
The Best Thing to Hit the Field



2300 Series AXIAL-FLOW® Combines

Case IH continues to improve on the best combine in the business. The 2300 Series AXIAL-FLOW® combines are designed to deliver more horsepower, more productivity and more comfort Two models, the 2366 and the 2388, range from 240 to 280 horsepower with grain-bin capacities of 180 to 210 bushels. With more than 25 years of rotary experience, 2300 Series combines feature fewer moving parts - increasing uptime and making these machines easier to operate and more reliable. The single-rotor design, coupled with a variety of concave and grate options to handle the majority of crops, puts more quality grain in the tank while keeping the operator environment clean. All this, and flexible financing, reliable parts and fast service, are available from your Case IH dealer.

Quality Makes the Difference

Glu-Lam Post

. another quality product from Rigidply Rafters used in CONESTOGA Buildings.

- Stronger than solid 6x6 posts
- Straighter than solid 6x6 posts
- More uniform and Completely treated---
- .60 CCA throughout the #1 structural 2x6's that are embedded in the ground . .
- #2 and better structural wood for construction above ground for pure appearance and greater overall strength.

The waterproof glue is the strongest binder and component---even stronger than the wood! Designed in Germany, improved, and proven since the early 1900's!

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylage, it is time to SHOTCRETE

RESURFACES INTERIORS:

- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increase useful life
- Economical

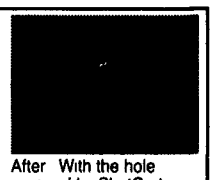
Before The silo's interior with plaster damage and stave exposed

After The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick, tough surface will protect stored feed

REPAIRS HOLES:

- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface

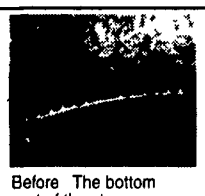
Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall



After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:

- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made... quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original



Before The bottom part of the staves are completely worn away

After The ShotCrete System repairs and replaces the missing structure

Metal Roofs aren't Created Equal

Everlast II is better:

- it is galvanized heavier like old times
- it is heat formed, less paint cracks
- is cut while hot, prevents early edge rust
- won't scratch as easy paint is harder
- won't bend or buckle as easily, stronger design
- laps are tighter, and virtually invisible
- nails, screws seal better, ribs fit tighter to head
- zinc phosphate, not chromate under paint
- still priced about the same or less
- picked up or deliver from Lebanon plant

Everlast II is excellent for houses and barns.

Standing seam is ideal for houses

The Ultimate G-100 Process
"The Best"
1 Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2 Epoxy Primer
3 Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4 G-100 Zinc Coating
5 Full Hard Steel (80,000 min yield)
6 Heat formed, less paint cracks
36" Cover Width
Everlast II
NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!
1 One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
2 Primer coat promotes outstanding top coat adhesion
3 Zinc phosphate pretreatment This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know you should reconsider
4 G-100 Galvanized Most metal roofing has approx 40% less galvanized under the paint G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels.
5 Full Hard. Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc
6 Heat formed. Metal is painted before ribs are formed Most paint cracks at bends, heat forming greatly reduces cracks (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years)
7 Stronger design, superior strength, more metal per L F.
8 Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53 37 Per Square $1 69 Per L F

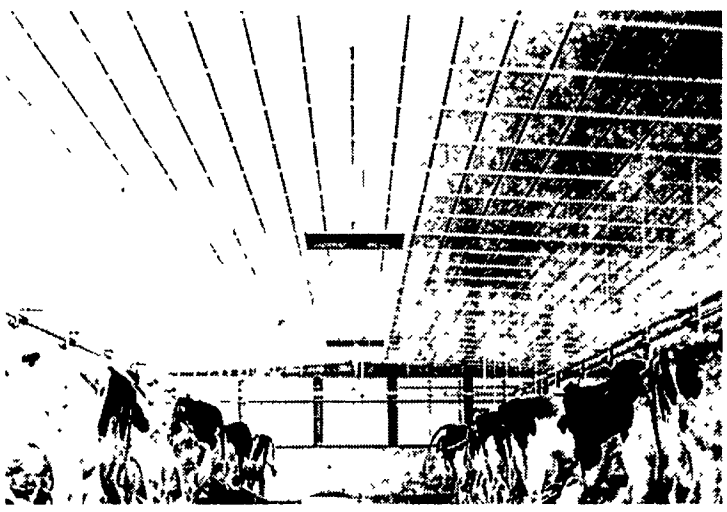
– Ceiling systems designed for your dairy, swine, and poultry facilities, as well – as shops, warehouses, garages, arenas, and more.

Tired of working in a cold, noisy shop?

These ceiling systems are designed to hold any amount of insulation, and with insulation above, produce sound reduction qualities much greater than steel

Is the banding in your hog or poultry barn deteriorating?

Let us replace them with our heavier polyester bands which do not stretch or become brittle over time.



Are you frustrated with the birds in your implement shed?

Get the problem under control with a triply ceiling, as well as greatly improving the lighting.

Contemplating a drop ceiling?

Demand a triply ceiling above your drop ceiling if there is insulation being installed. This will serve as a vapor barrier along with permanently preventing falling insulation.

Providing the Ag industry with a very durable, attractive, waterproof, noncorrosive, alternative to conventional ceilings at a fraction of the cost.

From 20¢/Sq. Ft. Installed

Having Problems Getting Milk Cold?
Consider a Mueller precooler. It's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk. It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.

BEEF TIPS

Total numbers of Simmental, worldwide, are estimated at between 60 and 80 million head The spread of Simmental from Europe was gradual until the 1960s, when the breed found great favor throughout all six continents The breed ranks second only to the Brahman (or Zebu) in total worldwide numbers

ALFALFA SEED
from the Dakota's Trask Family Seeds
Delivered to Farm • Priced Accordingly
$1.75/lb. Simeon's Store
Orders Booked Now Will Deliver by March 1
- Features grower-to-grower direct seed sales
- S D S U tested and researched
- Varieties S D Common, Vernal, and Rhyzoma
- Dakota alfalfas are dormancy rated at "2" and proven to excel in winter hardiness and production!
- Trask Seed is American grown and priced to reflect no corporate monopolies!

PA farmers have great hay crops with South Dakota alfalfa seed. Painterland Farms, Westfield, PA, John Painter said "The Trask's seed grew extremely well. We recommend it to anyone. It is real leafy and yielded as well as any of the high priced name brand seeds. It cost 40% as much. We planted 294 acres. We intend to plant more this spring. It was exceptionally winter hardy and resisted frost damage. We are very pleased."

E. Stoltzfus from Lancaster County has planted a more expensive name brand seed next to Trask Seed and sees no difference.

Join the numerous farmers in the PA/NY area harvesting superb alfalfa from South Dakota seed

ROASTING IS SUPERIOR TO OTHER METHODS OF HEAT PROCESSED GRAIN

~ IT'S ECONOMICAL - The cost to operate a flame roaster is lower than other types of processing equipment This makes roasting grain a more efficient method

~ IT PURIFIES - Only a flame roaster can effectively remove molds and reduce toxins to tolerant levels As the individual grain rotates through the open flame, the mold dust around it is destroyed

~ IT'S UNIFORM - Having the grain pass through the open flame and properly steeped, gives it a uniform treatment

~ IT'S PROFITABLE - Custom roasting on your farm
*Gives you the ability to feed your own grain, not someone elses
* Eliminates trucking expenses
* No mill charges shrinkage, storage and handling
* When grain needs to be purchased, you can have it roasted on your farm and know how it is processed Northumberland Co.

These two farms have been reduced $150,000.00 and ready for a quick sale with many benefits and extras, call for all the details. The soils are some of the best soils in Pa. There is Washington, Hagerstown, Edom & Opequon soils and production and yields are high most years. There are two five bedroom homes, implement storage, modern milking parlor on the one and loose housing or could be free stall barns very easily. Owners are motivated.

Lower Northumberland Co. or Upper Dauphin I need a 125 to 150 acre farm for intensive grazing of fine dairy cows. I need this farm by January or February. Please call if you have anything for SALE or RENT.

Sold & settled this week: 37 acre veal farm in Snyder Co. Settled 238 acre in Centre Co. recently.

Sold a 12+ acre and a 24+ acre tract that were a part of main farm sold & settled earlier this spring.

71 Acre in Northumberland Co. Verbally spoken for.

Bradford Co. I have this modern multi-dairy cow operation. Ease of operation, with lots of acres and plenty of homes for a nice family set-up. There are many pluses with this opportunity. Call me now for a private showing and discreet location.

Bradford Co. is a nice tract already perked for a new home or large Estate type of setting. You'll love the location and wildlife which includes big rack deer, bear, plenty of turkey and no doubt grouse and other species. Surveying should soon be complete and ready for this fall building your dream property. The potential for this one is tremendous. Priced for the discriminating buyer.
